Thread: Bug detected: popularity update time.

I noticed giving people popularity only shows Apr 1st 2025 as the last update.

Once you give a Pop, it doesn't update the original date, this avoids abuse and harassment.

Basically so it doesn't bump it right? So like, if you give a +3 today, then in 5 years I change it to a -3, it doesn't go to the top to show you that I've done it? Or get people ganging on you all of a sudden because of a change of stance?

You can delete the pop and reapply it for the date to change, this is how I harassed several members in my prior years.

I think if you change from positive to negative, or vice versa, it does update. Just not if you update the same type

Update:

It seems me and the person I negged had indeed already negged each other on Apr 1st. Sorry to inconvenience everyone with this false bug report.
