transaction hash from USDT payment on TRON

Retroactively opened contract and this guy didn't provide the promised reviews or replace them, attached the screenshots as well.

Israinsolutions - September 21, 2026, 9:05 am

Initially there was no hf contract, but he sent me contract today and i accepted it.

This is a service for reviews posting, I am providing only 25 days refill or replacement warranty if the reviews dropped for some reason like Trustpilot system updates, Trustpilot manual checkups, or Triggerred of these fake reviews by Trustpilot AI system.

The review posting was started on 27july. once it's started and reviews are posted there will be no refund even that we have used that TP account for doing the reviews, it will not used again. So there is a proper system going on with the account creation and then post accordingly with the fees involved in it for each account review.

I have clearly mentioned multiple times about the reviews posted done and refill/replacement period in these chat screenshots:

Since, today is 57th day (almost 2 months) for this task period. I had still offered him for few refills and did 2 refills 4 days ago. Refund is not applicable on this task as the reviews were posted weeks ago, but yeah it's removed by TP system which we can't do anything on that rather doing refills in the warranty period.

trucjzk3 - September 21, 2026, 10:07 pm

Yeah mate good job, after almost 2 months, my trust pilot has how many reviews on it still , maybe 5?

There was no point in time where my trustpilot had more than 10 reviews on it at the same time. Your service is horrid.

And you are trying to sleaze your way through your "terms and conditions".

Israinsolutions - September 22, 2026, 8:23 am

I can show you, we have did all reviews with the refill/replacement as well, and the thing is TP system triggered this profile and it is consider every review as a fake one, so that's why it needs to relax the system with some space of time to bring it normal. I am not hiding anything in the refill period. As i said multiple times that the reviews were posted already and there is no refund applicable on that. I am still offering the 12-15 refills/replacement of reviews posting even after the warranty period ends as a compensation. Let's finish this dispute in a good way. Thanks

Yeah after their recent update few weeks ago, their system is more complex and sometimes doing foolish things and remove the original review as well.

Yeah sometimes Google system and their algorithm doing something but still the google reviews system is better than the TP one.

$480.00 for 40 reviews is bonkers

Your service hasn't worked dude, you need to refund the customer.

Your service needs to have warranty otherwise it's pretty much a scam.

If you can't provide a premium service why are you charging like you're providing a premium service?

I'd refund OP if you're not able to deliver.

Clearly in the wrong business lmao.

Israinsolutions you didn't deliver.

5 reviews stuck out of a contracted 40.

Your thread states "? Custom Title & Descriptions accepted & Won't Get Removed"

5 reviews are not worth $480. 40 for $480 isn't acceptable if the reviews are only temporary and will be removed.

trucjzk3 needs to be refunded the full amount.

rodrigayz - September 25, 2026, 7:46 pm honestly i dont think that kind of service would work because i personally tried and google would always after few days get ridd of the reviews when there's a sudden rise in reviews being sent.

he sell the type of service that ppl w no money does. to refund OP, he would need to scam someone else tbh

Hey, I can't provide a lifetime warranty for this reviews service nor a refund once the job is done. nowadays their system even sometimes removed the original review.

As i said there is a 25 days refill/replacement warranty for drop reviews. so warranty period is already over.

Have used those TP account for doing the reviews, it will not used again. So there is a proper system going on with the account creation/purchasing and then post accordingly with the cost involved in it for each account creation and review.

I am not hiding anything in the refill period. I am still offering the 12-15 refills/replacement of reviews posting even after the warranty period ends as a compensation. Let's finish this dispute in a good

You never provided all 40 reviews. You never got past 5 to stick. The fact that you're unable to complete the service and unable to guarantee the service is all the more reason this service shouldn't be offered at all.

You're agreeing with others that the service is no good because it's consistently patched.

The job was completed of 40 reviews posting. you need to understand that. I have already done 40 reviews from 40 diff accs. The thing is their last update of algorithm or system removes the majority reviews and after that I have posted the refill/replacement as well but their algorithm triggered those reviews too. so i have told him to give some space of time for your TP business page to get soft and relaxed, and will do the refill again however the refill warranty period is already over.

At $480, and a failed service. The refill period should continue well past 25 days.

Should last a hell of a lot longer than 25 days. What's the point of paying for a review not even lasting a month?

He needs to be refunded.

Scrub - September 26, 2026, 9:31 am

Arguing is not going to help, refund or be closed.

N604 - September 26, 2026, 2:42 pm

I'm just here to add, that i purchased reviews from Israinsolutions as well. It took 2 month to finish everything (From Jun 16 to Aug 13, to be exact) by now, 75% of the reviews he added were removed.

It caused legit reviews I had to be removed as well.

6 reviews in total out of 20 that I ordered are still up so far.

Before we started the transaction i asked clearly if at least some of the reviews he can do with the AFS so it will be more legit. He said its possible, after the transaction he said it's not possible to give me email list so i will make it legit on my end and send proper emails for products purchase as the emails are random.

From my understanding he is using a 3rd party seller for the reviews and have no clue about whats going on and how it's actually done to stick.

I'm not here to complain or ask for anything back - usually with these kinds of sellers i just let it go and never purchase from them again.

My old Trustpilot reviews supplier was top, and the reviews are still valid for more than a year, and it was even cheaper.

Definitely a "premium" price, without premium reviews that stick.

Good luck getting your money back!
