Thread: ZexoCard: no-KYC virtual crypto cards reloadable for everyday and online spending

Debby Ryan - September 26, 2026, 2:33 pm

if you use crypto and want a separate card for online spending, ZexoCard offers no-KYC virtual prepaid card options for different purposes.

Everyday cards cover supported online purchases and eligible Apple Pay or Google Pay use. Subscriptions cards are designed for supported AI tools, advertising accounts and cloud services. Campaigns cards provide a separate option for supported TikTok advertising billing.

You can give each no kyc reloadable card a recognizable name, add funds through your wallet, and review its balance and transaction history in your account. Separating cards by purpose makes it easier to see where a payment belongs.

Check the current card descriptions, fees, minimum funding requirements and availability before choosing your card. The amount loaded onto a card and the total wallet funds needed are different when fees apply.

Fees are like this:

Funding fee (3.85%)

Card issuance: $10.00

Monthly maintenance Free

Crypto conversion fee (0.2%) & gets lower for USDT Tron deposits

Merchant Transaction fee

Everyday Cards only

$0.25

Everyday Card (Apple Pay & Google Pay): deducted from the card balance per merchant transaction.

Subscriptions Card and Campaigns Cards: No Merchant Transaction fee

No other fees

Bin Checker is available for customers who have active cards.

That looks very promising!

Do you know if aliexpress accepts that card ?

There is a high chance it will work, as this card supports 3D Secure payments.

You will receive the OTP via email and through the customer portal.

I must say i am fairly interested but sadly over the past years i have become victim of such cards ^^

Is there a possibility of a vouch copy of sorts?

Sorry, but there is no voucher copy available.

To be transparent, I work with regulated financial service providers, and I tested their services for around a year before deploying them to ensure everything was reliable and safe.

There are no monthly card or account fees, and the service is completely free to maintain.

I recommend loading only the amount you need at the time, rather than keeping unnecessary funds on the account.

As my footer says: ZexoCard is a card platform connecting customers with financial and digital asset services. Licensed external partners may deliver account access, payment cards, asset custody, transfers, fiat-to-crypto conversion

To be honest - I don't have answer for Paypal. I never used it before. You can try Zexo Everyday card.

These cards are 3d secure. You will get otp at your email and control panel.

Min load 25$ + 10$ card charges and 3.85% fees.

Thanks
