I watched the trailer earlier and am stoked for season 2. Ever since I first watched Dexter it has been one of my favorite shows and the return of it with Resurrection has been amazing. Season 1 was great and I expect season 2 will be no different.

Wow thanks for informing me. I watched the original show and also "New Blood" but not the other one.

I'm beyond hyped for this season. The only Dexter series that I didn't care for was Original Sin, however Resurrection and New Blood have been phenomenal, I'm so glad they brought this series back and have been continuing it.

Only thing I'm not looking forward to is waiting for new episodes each week.

Oh man you're in for a treat. Waste no further time and go watch season 1 of Resurrection. It's fantastic. Then you'll be ready for the start of season 2 come the end of this month as well.

It's so well written now amazing how a comeback is so good.

Agreed. I was a bit nervous about it initially because their first attempt at bringing the show back via New Blood was so so, but nah Resurrection is a banger through and through.

I was initially skeptical of Resurrection, but it turned out to be better than I anticipated. I'm hoping that Resurrection continues to gain momentum in season 2. I'm eager to see what happens next.
