Looking for a few people who know their way around spreading payloads.

I have the RAT and can provide the builds. Your side is getting it distributed and keeping things moving. Compensation is percentage based, so the more successful the spread, the more you make. We split whatever comes in.

Not looking for beginners who need everything explained. You don't have to be some elite either, just know what you're doing and be consistent.

I handle the backend and the payload. You handle distribution.

If you're interested, DM me with what you've worked with before and what kind of reach you have. No need to post details here.
