I can only find one thread mentioning this from 4 years ago here:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6192254&highlight=Sportsbook+Parlay>

Was curious if this is something that would be possible with the new server upgrade. Understandably the risk of the byte economy getting skewed, but the house always wins in the end. Feel like the chances the bytes flow back to Stanley's pockets are pretty high.

Could also have a cap on the parlay, either by the number of bytes wagered, number of parlays you can stack, or both.

Even just a 2x combo, combining 2 bets for a bigger payout.

I also see from the thread above that Sportsbook used to have a Stats page, but <https://hackforums.net/sportsbook.php?action=stats> comes up blank.

Was it removed? Or is this a casualty of the server upgrade?

I've seen interest in this from a few people previously, but I understand the concern that Omni mentioned in that other thread as well. I think having SB as it is right now suffices just fine, but I of course get the appeal for Parlays. Assuming he was able and willing to add them in, he'd surely put some restrictions in place for them. Could get out of hand otherwise. Honestly just having them at all could get out of hand lol.

It's on the Roadmap.

Didn't even think to check that. Been a minute since I've taken a look at that honestly. Going to give it a skim to catch up on what all is planned.
