Are you going to make a global banner for this?

Yes. I can't execute all levels of a promotion at one moment.

1. Create drawing rules and guidelines
2. Build the assets (images)
3. Make any code adjustments (Award Goal, Buy Awards)
4. Create thread
5. Create X post (and then Boost it)
6. Create Header Announcement
7. Create Mailer (and then send it)

It's a multi-step process which can take me a couple hours.

Should I add a pumpkin to the Buy Awards page for the lazy? Might even allow it to be both bought and earned (2 per member).

You know how I love my awards, but I personally always enjoyed the pumpkin being earnable only. It's just nice seeing fellow members with them and knowing they earned them by being active on the forum during the event. Adds a nice prestige to it. That said, I understand the consideration for making it buyable as well. Ultimately up to you of course. If you continue the buyable route, any chance you ever do 2 separate pumpkins or the same one with some kind of difference to them?

Some of what I do is use X topics where I find daily interesting subjects around tech. Most of it is AI related but you can find your own niches to make threads about.

I'll alternate, two threads a day, one about Stanley hate, one about Stanley love.
30 days of Christmas my ass, more like 30 days of Fuck Stanley.

I am unsure if I'll be around my PC as much to be super active, but will try get the Movie posting back so I can vaguely contribute towards it.
