What is the worst game you have ever spent your money on time on for me Call of duty advanced warfare would be the one.

Hack Game. Lol.

It has so much potential but going for the award on an incomplete game, which takes on average 9 months to a year is mind numbing.

Does it really take that long to achieve?

Yes. I played every day. Every 5 minutes. It was so slow.

Only upgrade your battery and charge rate. Nothing else matters. Load up on large charges and nmaps. Nothing else. Do the 20% and 30% small hack jobs and always do your missions.

Unless Omni bumped up the XP rates when he made those changes last year. It's at least 9 months. I was going to write an entire blog guide to Hack Game a long time ago, I had tracked all my XP rates per day, different techniques I tried. Then ended up never writing it.

If you ever do, I'd love to (proof) read it for you, and even put it to the test.
But 9 months is kind of long for a grind lol.

You're already online, you may as well do it in the background. Out of everyone I know that could grind it out, it's you Master Cape.

Haha, that's very true.

But it's not the daily grind, it's the dedication on the long run.

9 months is kind of long to be honest.

Might add another reminder in my phone for this daily, or I might forget.
