I back the nice house. That would probably be the first thing i'd buy. Ideally, I would like to build my own with the lotto money!

Real estate is always a good option indeed.

Supryt - October 12, 2026, 5:15 am

Buying more lottery. Too simple question.

Real estate for me and all my family

Have to think of ways to create generational wealth even further so those winnings never dry up

New Custom Built PC, newest elgato capture card, new monitors, and save the rest.

Love that plan. Need to pimp out your setup

I constantly manifest this idea of buying land, building a house with solar and a well. The hopes that Florida does do away with property taxes. Then I could just get by only having to worry about internet, cell phone, car insurance and food bills.

I would buy a bigger house with a garden.

My family would have more space to relax and enjoy time together.
