Mine would probably be remembering random song lyrics, even songs I haven't heard in years.

I swear, I can forget what I was supposed to buy at the grocery store, but play a song from 15 years ago and somehow I still know most of the lyrics. ?

It's not really a useful skill, but I find it funny how my brain remembers stuff like that while forgetting things I actually need to remember.

Haha bro that's quite a talent! ?

Hey, but just because you feel fine the next morning doesn't mean your body isn't feeling the effects. Stay safe buddy!

Oh, I don't drink. I can, my body is good at it, however nearing my 40s soon, I can tell you I've been plastered maybe like 7-8 times.

Ah, I see bro! Being able to handle alcohol doesn't mean you have to drink. Sounds like you've always been pretty responsible about it!
