

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: relationship with someone who has no friends?

Jamika - October 14, 2026, 10:27 am

Would you be willing to be in a relationship with someone who has no friends?

Maybe this is a bit of a tricky question. ?

Some people see having no friends as a sign that someone is antisocial or has some kind of problem.

Others see it as a good thing, since the person won't have lots of friends competing for their attention or neglecting their partner.

What about you? If you found out your partner had no friends, would you stick with them or run away?

Eran - October 14, 2026, 10:35 am

Why not lol? There are plenty of reasons as to why a person has no friends. Doesn't automatically mean they have a problem.

Yin Yang - October 14, 2026, 10:38 am

They got to have at least one IRL though?

Respect - October 14, 2026, 12:20 pm

I'm one of those people. I have few close friends, but thats on purpose, I cut everyone off when I changed my life for the better and worked to achieve my goals and dreams.

DryNode - October 14, 2026, 12:44 pm

Honestly, yes... less friends = less shared drama and guilt. Like, dang, I can barely handle my own family alone. ?

I just enjoy my peace and my studies, so yeah, idc if Becky is pregnant with twins right now or if her husband just got sent to prison for tax evasion. ?

sharn - October 17, 2026, 6:11 pm

I would give them a chance instead of making assumptions.
Everyone has a different story behind their social life.