Usually nothing. The coffee is the whole setup for me in the mornings.
Sometimes a cereal bar but do not have those often.

Whatever is left in my cup from the previous day, it's like a sour dough

Coffe is a bare minimum for the whole day, at least taking 3-4 of them throught the day.
I just enjoy it with cigarettes and nothing else, life is awesome

Organic ancient grain flakes. Made from buckwheat, teff, and wheat. Not what you expected haha.

Usually, when I drink coffee, I like to balance out its bitterness with a little sweet bread. I'm not really into cookies or anything like that, so sweet bread is just fine. It doesn't have to be extremely sweet or covered in frosting, chocolate, or anything like that either. Just a simple, slightly sweet bread that's commonly made around this region. I might go for the fancier kind of Mexican sweet bread you usually find in bakeries on especially cold days, maybe a few times a week at most :3

About to have mine with an omlette.

I enjoy coffee with a slice of cheesecake.

It is one of my favorite combinations when I visit a cafe.
