Thread: What odd hobby do you have that is not normal?

Hern - October 15, 2026, 9:45 am

I am really curious to know if anyone has any out of the ordinary hobbies.

I will say that I often make custom keyboards down to the PCB/Motherboard layer and soldering/doides and such.

Since we all are tinkers I am sure there are some others that have some cool interesting hobbies that you don't hear of often!

I've only gotten MG's so far, so they are mostly the same size tbh.

I collect die-cast cars as well. I've got a couple of large boxes filled with different models, from classic cars to sports cars and even some vintage airplanes. It's a fun way to reminisce about my childhood and admire these miniature masterpieces.

I am still upset I missed the cheap $5 sub earlier this year for shodan. I want an account but knowing it is $5 sometimes I can't see myself paying the $50 or whatever it is currently.

Digging holes. Idk I dig a lot of holes, not even for work or anything.. just for fun. I probably dig around 1 - 2 holes a week and more depending on my stress levels.
