Thread: Happy Friday \(Weekend plans\)

Happy Friday ya'll!

Anyone have any exciting plans or projects you now may have time to work on?

I will be moving over some VM containers over to Docker and trying to consolidate hardware into less to reduce electricity bill myself!

That sounds exciting, good luck with that! Mine is pretty chill and relaxed

I am attending a birthday on saturday and other than that I have big plans on thread creation on here and want to share a bit more knowledge.

Happy friday to everyone!

Well I hope the person likes my present, was expensive and I had a long think about what the person likes haha (dont tell about the expensive part, thats a secret!)

Don't forget about the thought that counts too! Some of the best gifts I get are the ones that may not even be worth much but can tell they spent a lot of time and thought into it!

Very cool! Using A.I. to assist at all? I am curious if you are, what site A.I. you may be using since I am starting to even see some web hosting/providers now offering those services almost built into the host subscription for free or close to it to assist on getting things up and running.

Drinking beer and wine, probably playing Minecraft. I also need to work on some freelance stuff, and I'll work with an uncle's friend of mine to get some extra bucks

What kind of VM/containers do you run by the way ?

Setup some NGINX local DNS type things.

I suppose most of it is media focused as well.

Sounds like you're getting organized and saving some cash. Looking forward to seeing how it goes with Docker.

I also need to do some around the house cleaning myself...

I never have time to clean up during the work week and then always end up being too lazy during the weekend

Happy Friday and now it's Saturday!

sharn - October 17, 2026, 12:44 pm

Sometimes the best plans are no plans at all.

Just relaxing this weekend and enjoying good food on Sunday.
