Thread: Are you an early bird, or a late owl?

Oh_Well - October 18, 2026, 9:19 pm

I'm an early bird. I prefer waking up at 5-6-7 am, before everyone else, and doing my own stuff rather than staying up super late.

What about you?

Always gotta be early to get to the grind

That's true. The grind never ends!

I'm a late owl, but I really wish I was an early bird. I just have such a tough time waking up regardless of how much sleep I get. I also get so much more done at night.

If that works for you, that's all that matters!

Neither. I wake up at 8, go to bed by 10.

It's about as average as you can get.

Homie, soulmate! ?LOL Yeah that's all that I can do it's a chronic problem and makes some people mad at me. But like that friend/boss of mine that I didn't know was in love with me that was a millionaire.

One of the things he did to try to gage my interest or prove he was right for me was get someone on his staff to point out to me that that's why he bought so many nightclubs and night businesses because he was a night owl same as me. I just didn't get it because we were both married and I thought he just wanted a friend.

If I talk to much about it it's because I legit had all these flashbacks to everything that I'd completely forgot and it's been a shock to remember and a shock to realise I could forget so much from the past and then have it all come back. Ever since I had morphine at the hospital in 2020 the morphine made me have flashbacks. Then I had morphine in hospital again this year and it causes them for me. I do get it's fucking weird as fuck and I probably shouldn't even talk about it.

Definitely an early bird, I hate wasting my day doing nothing

AntoKUrda - October 19, 2026, 1:11 am

Always wanted to be early bird but unfortunately I'm late owl

Jamika - October 19, 2026, 2:41 am

You might not believe it, but I'm both! I wake up early to get my kids ready for school, then stay up late and end up feeling like a zombie the next morning. ?

It would actually be awesome to be an early bird. The world is built largely for those people.

Yin Yang - October 19, 2026, 5:23 am

I'm usually up at 7 on the weekdays for work. On the weekends, I'm up like 8:30 or so

XtremeDiscount - October 19, 2026, 5:27 am

I take a lot of naps and am up during weird hours so I would say both! lol

Pimping - October 19, 2026, 4:54 pm

Night owl for sure i am up to like 4 AM every night lol

sharn - October 19, 2026, 5:06 pm

I am a night owl, especially when I am stressed or have a lot on my mind.

There is something comforting about the silence when everyone else has gone to bed.

Th3HulK - October 19, 2026, 7:10 pm

Early bird here. I love waking up before the sun is fully up, making coffee, and just having absolute silence before the chaos of the day starts. It feels like I'm getting a head start on everyone else

Eran - October 20, 2026, 3:52 am

I'm a hybrid breed bruh, my sleep schedule so messed up ngl
