Thread: [\[Will be Updated\] 'Database' of Fraudulent Users, Scammers, and Impostors](#)

D??M! - September 9, 2010, 11:33 am

I am back home, with a decent amount of free time again. Expect this list to be reformatted and updated soon. I have created a new way of adding users to the list, you can see an example by scrolling down the the X's, he is currently the only one in this format, but I like the way it looks and expect to switch all existing reports and new reports to this format. Sorry for the lack of updates.

Scamming has always existed here on HackForums, but as of lately, it appears to be becoming more common, and we're beginning to see a lot of reputable members stop caring and start scamming. In order to help keep some of you safe, Necrotoxin and myself are going to start compiling different scam reports, and if we feel there is enough proof against someone, we will add their name to this topic and add a reason to why they are on the list. Eventually I hope to have this topic stickied for everyone to use as a reference before trading, but I'm expecting that not to happen for a long time, if ever, so I'll do my best to keep this topic ed.

I want everyone to be aware that this topic in no way will include every scammer on HackForums, so just because they are not on this list does not mean you are not at risk. Also, just because they are on this list doesn't mean they are completely bad, you just may want to avoid going first with said user.

That being said, if you would like a user added to this topic, please pm the following information to one of the following:

or

NaDe

or

Framed

Code [b]Link to Their HF Profile:[/b]

[b]Link to your Scam Report against them:[/b]

[b]Link to any additional Scam Reports against them:[/b]

[b]Any additional information:[/b]

Please be aware that I will under no circumstances add anyone to this list unless their is indisputable proof against them. If the Scam Report is still heated, under discussion, or controversial in any way, they will not be added to my list. Also please note that I am a full time College student, and whilst I try to put a good amount of time into HackForums every day, I will not be able to instantly update this. I will have Necrotoxin here aiding me in keeping this as organized and up to date as possible, but like I said, instant updates will not always be available.

Please excuse any typo's, grammatical errors and the overall presentation of this thread. It is still in it's early stages, and will be getting improved regularly.

Like I said before, this thread is still a heavy work in progress so please don't complain about it's current lack of info. I have class today and I finish moving today, so I'm treating this as a bit of a 'Trial Release' for general Feedback and Suggestions.

Please do not discuss scamming on this thread, if you want to dispute anything, or get someone added to this list, please PM me. A link to my inbox is on the thread, and my MSN is in my signature. Please keep replies limited to suggestions and/or basic feedback. I will report any and all posts that do not follow this guideline.

I am already receiving PM's. I will be adding a big update hopefully after my next class, and before I continue moving myself in again, if this thread is not updated by 5pm EST, expect it to come a little later, around roughly 8-9pm EST.

Should I add a section called "Dishonorable Mentions" or something like that, for those who do petty scams for like $2 or people who scam, but later admit to it and refund their money. People added to this section would be removed after a certain amount of time.

cobija - September 9, 2010, 2:24 pm

Thing is, usually when scammers are found, they are banned for a really long time. Check bans.php. Almost everyone's bans end next year that scammed.

Not always true. They ARE banned when evidence is on site, aka all deals done via PM and so on, but a lot of people get away with it by doing the deal offsite.

This is just a rough number that I'm pulling out of no where, but I'd say maybe 25% of scammers here, if that, actually get banned. A lot of people get away since the proof, even though it may be legitimate, is off site. This is just another line of defense if you will to prevent a lot of scammers from 'striking' multiple times.

People should still make a thread so they can try to work things out, only when there is indisputable proof that a scam has taken place and the scammer will not return the money should someone PM me and link me or Necrotoxin to the thread.

It's encouraged you try to solve all scams yourself before reporting them here.

Edit: My Text document contains about 15 names and reasons as of right now, I need to leave again for a bit, but when I return I'll add about 10 more then update the OP. Thanks for all the PM's so far.

Meh I was able to prove he scammed you, but he did return the account. If I were to add him it'd be to the Dishonorable Mentions section, and I only leave people there for 2 weeks unless they do something else thats suspicious, and it's been about a week and 3 days since Joe's scam, so I'm not going to bother adding him.

Great post!!!

Many people have reported that he has scammed them. As they were all Regular Members, it seems that his scams went un-noticed.

I'm hoping that they will put him up on the scammers list ASAP so that he doesn't leech on more victims ;(

Sorry guys, my computer fucked up on me again, tried just reinstalling windows but it was crashing constantly still, got a new hard drive today, seemed to have fixed the problem, working on getting all of my files back now, then I'll get back to work. I made myself a .txt linking me back to about 10-15 scam reports to review, so between that .txt and the new reports from today/yesterday, I should have about 15 names to add.

unstopabl3 - September 23, 2010, 9:32 am

P.S

I'm pretty sure I have it now. When I got this computer a while ago, I got one of the newer hard drives that works at 10k rpm, and it wasn't built well. I normally had my computer crash about once a day, then it recently got really bad, so I finally got a new HD 3 years later.

But besides that I'm just restoring old documents, music, programs, etc.

D??M! - September 23, 2010, 10:15 pm

Added 13 people to the list, with 8 threads still under review. Like I said before I only add reports with Indisputable proof, so I am waiting for some of these threads to play out a little more. If you feel as if I've missed a report, please let me know.

They only get banned if there is a sufficient amount of on site proof that can be confirmed by staff, and a lot of time staff will not get involved in scam reports. This is the next best thing, now we are at least aware of who's been scamming.

I was a staff member during your last Booter's project and it was a scam and I had to pm mods to get my name removed from your topic so I wouldn't be associated. If your new booters works you have a chance to redeem yourself, but last time you released a product in the marketplace, you sold a non working booter to about 5 people, then didn't refund their money.

Only time I add people is for indisputable proof in scam reports. If there isn't a proper scam report, or the accused can appeal the scam report, they won't get added. For the most part I let scam reports play out for a few days before I even look at them.

Possible new format for the list, tell me what you guys think:

Example:

Scammer List: BV1 ? - [Report 1] [Report 2] [Report 3]

Reasons for being added

ZOMG A SCAMMER - [X] [X] [X]

Reasons for being added

The user's name is hyperlinked to their profile. Following the User's name, links are provided to each unique scam report against them, every 'X' is a link. Below that are the reasons why they are being added to the list.

I think 'Report 1' 'Report 2' etc looks better than the X's, but I'm open to opinions.

You should put a list of verified scammers and a list of unverified scammers. Therefore when someone wants to deal they can use their own judgment with an unverified scammer before following through with their transaction.

D??M! - September 26, 2010, 5:35 pm

Making a list of unverified scammers would start showing some biasedness in my opinion. I made the "Dishonorable mentions" for that reason, but I don't think I'll be using it, because it still may cause some controversy.

I stated in OP that posts directly onto this topic will be reported and ignored, I only look at PM's people send me. Then when I look into it I only add people with indisputable proof. If them being added can be argued in any way I don't do it.

That's not surprising. A lot of members take it upon themselves to try to use high reputed members' to finalize their deals.

Always do deals on HF through the PM system so come the time to prove you've been scammed, staff will be able to acknowledge the evidence rather than disregard it.

It's all in here.

I am in desperate need of an update, I know. The last 3 months were rough, dropped out of college (I'm re-enrolled now), was homeless for a short amount of time, and finally had to live out of state for roughly 10 weeks. All issues are now sorted out and I am able to devote time to the list again.

I just added 1 user to the list, Xinfiltrate, using a new format that I am pretty happy with, and plan on reformatting the entire list to use this format. This will be a time consuming and obnoxious process, but it will produce a nicer looking list, and no one will be able to question the legitimacy of why the user is on the list.

You must learn what escrow means before using it in a sentence, and it's too bad the kid you scammed posted in this very thread showing how I tried to help him, you just seem mad you're on the list.

I will be a little lenient though, I will await Nade's response too, and if he disagrees, even though me and Framed agree so far, I will over turn it.

Also to clear things up for anyone curious. Framed and Nade were not demoted from their moderator rank, Omni just had to remove the user group in general when doing forum work, and it is unknown if/when the user group will be returned.

Sad that you have to lower yourself in to lying in a try to save your name.
Sad story is pretty fucking sad.

I never said I wasn't going to pay ever... stop putting words in my mouth. I repetetively said, I will pay you set it up on my host where it can actually function and run every 20min (was AGREED to run every 20min but needs to be configured on my 2nd host which i provided you). You said it was easy yourself so stop trying to justify the fact that you are just trying to either ruin my reputation or too stuck up to set something "so easy" up (in your own words)

..and never did I lie.. I would only have lied if i said "Im paying you for this code and nothing but the code itself"....I wasn't specific either way but there was no fucking contract I just said "can you make me ...blahblah" and obviously 'blahblah' referring to being something I can use. (implied common fucking sense)

stop bringing your irrational arguments over to this thread now.. Your just making a mess

(Jan 18, 2011 08:47 AM)[H]ell Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why would you do such a thing, if 2 people agree on him being wrong?

Thats kinda picking his side, while I still miss my $50.

This is the least that could be done to a scammer with multiple reports on him, right?
wtf.

Goddamn database lockup. My messages aren't showing up.

When they get through I will remove the multiple posts.. Sorry for the inconvenience.

is it not ok to bring an unbiased opinion which I believe is trusted to the situation?... what are you so scared of...? I don't see the problem in that..

and stop trying to make me look all bad -> "This is the least that could be done to a scammer with multiple reports on him, right?" ...those scam reports have been solved so shut the hell up

D??M! - January 18, 2011, 11:18 am

I'd appreciate it if you took this back to your scam report rather than here.

0x000011 - January 18, 2011, 11:20 am

Any additional information: User finds weak targets, such as newbies with low reputation ,and tries to scam them , thinking he will get away cause of his big reputation, that is build fake, of course giving free shit to 12years old kids, such as installs .

User sold spy eye on HF to a member,and scammed him for 700$, spy eye is not allowed here, he should not be a member of HF cause of that. In the other hand, he has 4 scam reports against him , i don't know what staff is doing , and letting people like this getting away.
