So this has been going on since August 28th. He wanted $25 worth of hosting accounts, so I told him he can give me $25 for 50 accounts, and when he got the rest of the money, he'd get the other 350 or so. He supposedly had $25 on a prepaid card, which I doubt was true. He gave me part of the card details, then signed off (do not have messages from this part of the conversation). He has ignored me several times, probably once every 2 days since this, I have tried numerous ways to contact him. I have some proof of his interest in the accounts saying in PM he will be $25 worth, and I have our MSN conversation about 10 minutes ago about him claiming he does not use HackForums, and that he never met me before... yet I have been on his friend list.

Sorry I do not have our old messenger chats, never thought it would come to this. Hope I have enough proof to get something done with him!

You really should've saved the old conversations, they would've helped your case quite a lot. ?

RyanDiamond - September 15, 2010, 1:16 pm

I wish I could of recovered them honestly.

Grumpy - September 15, 2010, 1:16 pm

Sure you don't have them stored anywhere?

RyanDiamond - September 15, 2010, 1:17 pm

Yeah, I use an online version of Yahoo Messenger, ugh, I wish it could store them! I could contact Yahoo if I really need to and see if they can recover it with the dates of our PMs.

I did not scam you. I gave you the details through msn I would have put chat logs but I reformatted. And then you gave me hostnomi accounts but they do not work. Your the scammer.

PhirewireNET - October 1, 2010, 3:11 pm

Jagex. You Formatted your computer after a deal which you had msn chat logs of. Hm believable.

Question is why would you trade with a 25 poster, and why would he reformat after a trade?
/He is a Scammer.

RyanDiamond - October 1, 2010, 3:23 pm

I didn't think about it honestly.
