Don't know how to add brushes to Photoshop?

Click here to see my tutorial!

Hello. I have collected a lot of useful brushes than you might have need for.

Therefore, I uploaded it.

The pack contains brushes from Abstract to Grunge to Floral to Splatters to Vectors and more!

I'm sorry I can't provide a virus scan since the file is 100MB big. But scroll down to the bottom of the thread for user scans and trusts (Thanks so much to you =)

The pack contains like 20-30 .abr files and yeah.

Do I really need a virus scan for .abr files?

Anyways,,

The brushes works in Photoshop CS, CS2, CS3, CS4 and CS5. Soon CS6 too I guess, lol.

Download

PLEASE leave a quick comment to keep the thread alive. Thanks.

Download Separate (20-30 packs of brushes)

- Multiupload

- Mediafire

Download ONE huge pack with all the brushes in (Easiest install, and quickest)

- Multiupload

- Mediafire

Didn't find anywhere to scan it online, sorry, because of the file size. Scroll down to the bottom to see other users virus scans and trusts, thanks so much to you who did it!

If you download it and scan it with a program and when you find out it's clean please tell us, so I can write it in the topic for others to trust it and download. (At bottom)

Why do you do this?

I want to help people searching for good brushes so they don't need to use all their time to search for brushes - but download alot of good brushes at once. I also want to contribute to the HF community since I feel like I didn't do it enough yet.

Thanks, it's clean!

Your welcome.

Yeah well I downloaded one .gbr (gimp) brush pack too and I like uhh... I don't want to reupload now it takes so long time.

And it takes almost no space, only a few MB i guess.

Thanks for your comment, and not least the virus scan.
Didn't think about scanning with malwarebytes, :p

Thanks.

I mean, a zip file can consist of multiple extension files... right?

True. I don't remember which, but one of the mirrors to one of the downloads is only the .abr... But zipped it takes so much less space ,and quicker to download... Like 50MB less x.x

But dl it and check it... It only contains .abr's (and some .gbr lol)

damn says it's not compatible I'm using CS4 extended version 11.0

zyvox - January 13, 2011, 12:03 pm

What?

It should be compatible with every version of Photoshop CS2 and up.

Do you use any cracked version or something? Most ppl do xd. I do, and I don't have any problems with it. I use CS5 though.

Googled it, says some brushes are compatible with CS4 (from CS5), others not.

Anybody here tried these with a recent version than CS5 like CS4?

Yeah. Theres one pack there with the brushes seperate (alot of them), I just don't remember which. I don't use too many either, but they can be good to have so I usually just keep them :) Getting hard to find the specific ones when you have 2000 though.

Try going to brush presets window in the brush thing, click the arrow up there and choose "Preset manager...", now go to the brushes menu in there and try it there.

And click save/done - not close.

If it's still not working - you may have some option only enabling the default brushes to be used or something.

Kom - January 21, 2011, 11:33 am

That didnt seem to work either - and i don't lmfaio, ive used photoshop for ages and have quite a few brushes already installed.
