Thread: Tamperdata and Xbox places?

Goetia - April 19, 2009, 9:51 pm

not sure if this is in the right subforum or not, lemme know if its in the wrong place....

Basically, I'm wondering if anyone has had any luck using tamper data to fake the referrals or completed orders at any of those "free Xbox/PS3/ect" places that are all over the web.

if anyone has, let me know which ones, thanks

I tried with aw surveys but It doesnt work,

I know loads of people who have done it legit, but never go the money sent to them, so Im not sure if they even work in the first place :/

dude, I know aw never pays, and if you use tamper data they send you an e-mail alerting you of fraud on your account.

I was asking about all these Xbox places ect. I thought of it when I saw a member here with a sig looking for a few more referrals for a "free Xbox" site. figured maybe someone here knows of an Xbox giveaway that actually will send you one after enough people complete offers, and was wondering if I could tamper the check out on one of those.
