Thread: [\[TUT\] How To Change Your Ip Address. - In Less Than one Minute, Change Your Ip!](#)

The White Tiger - September 21, 2010, 1:09 pm

Hey guys, this is one of my first basic tutorial's i made so far so i hope you will get enough information.

[img]http://cdn.iconfinder.net/data/icons/Ethereal_Icons_2/PNGs/Mimetypes/cmd.png[/img]

1. Click on "Start" in the bottom left hand corner of screen
2. Click on "Run"
3. Type in "command" and hit ok

You should now be at an MSDOS prompt screen.

4. Type "ipconfig /release" just like that, and hit "enter"
5. Type "exit" and leave the prompt
6. Right-click on "Network Places" or "My Network Places" on your desktop.
7. Click on "properties"

You should now be on a screen with something titled "Local Area Connection", or something close to that, and, if you have a network hooked up, all of your other networks.

8. Right click on "Local Area Connection" and click "properties"
9. Double-click on the "Internet Protocol (TCP/IP)" from the list under the "General" tab
10. Click on "Use the following IP address" under the "General" tab
11. Create an IP address (It doesn't matter what it is. I just type 1 and 2 until i fill the area up).
12. Press "Tab" and it should automatically fill in the "Subnet Mask" section with default numbers.
13. Hit the "Ok" button here
14. Hit the "Ok" button again

You should now be back to the "Local Area Connection" screen.

15. Right-click back on "Local Area Connection" and go to properties again.
16. Go back to the "TCP/IP" settings
17. This time, select "Obtain an IP address automatically"
18. Hit "Ok"
19. Hit "Ok" again
20. You now have a new IP address

With a little practice, you can easily get this process down to 15 seconds.

P.S:

This only changes your dynamic IP address, not your ISP/IP address. If you plan on hacking a website with this trick be extremely careful, because if they try a little, they can trace it back. I got this information from a old friend of mine.

I Hope i helped enough, please say something about this tutorial it's one of the first i made, and sorry if this is the wrong section.

Ninjury - September 21, 2010, 1:30 pm

This should go in the tutorial section.

Poppins - September 21, 2010, 1:32 pm

This is not even needed. Most people have dynamic IPs so you just restart your router.

`P R O D I G Y™ - September 21, 2010, 1:52 pm

Yep, and using a VPN is ACTUALLY the easiest.

Nice guide, since you haven't made that many. Although a proxy or a VPN would give ya some more security.

Great share. but im afraid there are free program that can do this with one click xarisis - December 30, 2010, 8:46 am

It's not an MSDOS!!! It's a COMMAND PROMPT!!! It's amazing how many people make this mistake!!! If I earned 1$ for each time I hear this I would be a millionaire!!!

52643 - December 30, 2010, 8:56 am

Do you know a method for changing your IP Address in Ubuntu 10.10? I can always restart my router, but sometimes it can be a pain.

You are blind.

You said multiple times, that its YOUR tutorial, that YOU wrote it.

When someone said that you copy and pasted it, you said you didn't. - Which means you lied.
When someone posted a link to one of the 26,000 copies of this, YOU said a FRIEND of yours made it. and that YOU asked HIM to copy it, at claim that its yours. - Again, one big fat ass lie.

Now please admit that its you ripped this piece of shit, and that your a LIAR.
Owh, and since you BEGGED `P R O D I G Y™ to buy you l33t - Please close this thread when you get it.

Chris Versaci - March 24, 2011, 9:12 pm

Nice TUT, I'd rather use a VPN though :).

The White Tiger - June 4, 2011, 9:37 am tutorial still open for everybody and it still working!

Noobs These Days - June 24, 2011, 6:16 pm

you forgot to mention ipconfig /renew

Vexna - June 24, 2011, 6:40 pm

Looks great and legit, good job man!

The White Tiger - June 25, 2011, 11:02 am

Thanks man. I appriciated your support.

Collisioned - June 25, 2011, 11:07 am

Thanks so much, was very helpful!^_^

Cyber-Security - June 25, 2011, 12:01 pm

I thought that you needed to contact your ISP to change an IP address ?

eight - June 25, 2011, 12:06 pm

Or you could just restart your router.

HACKUNIT - June 25, 2011, 12:23 pm

I just restart my router to change my ip.

king tulip - June 25, 2011, 12:57 pm

There are other easier methods of changing your IP, but nevertheless, this is very helpful if you have a lot of enemies.

rushmanx3 - June 25, 2011, 2:42 pm

Saving this for future reference.

Moony - June 25, 2011, 4:19 pm

I simply unplug my router and wait a few minutes. By the time I replug it in, I usually get another IP.

The White Tiger - June 27, 2011, 7:47 am

It's still working. But you can also restart your router.

The White Tiger - October 17, 2011, 10:56 am

This thread still working for ppl that wants to change ip adress.

PALL MALL - May 28, 2013, 6:54 pm

Thank you very much for this. I was looking on the internet for days! Tyvm.

Mahdy - May 28, 2013, 8:57 pm

If you have a static IP, this won't do this. This is only for users with dynamic IP addresses. Nonetheless, nice tutorial.

Accidentt - May 28, 2013, 10:52 pm

I've seen this tutorial before, at least make credits ?

smdsam - May 29, 2013, 11:07 pm

This doesnt work :(cannot find a method. is it because windows 8?

shockblade - June 10, 2013, 6:35 pm

I read somewhere another way. Open cmd, type ipconfig /release, enter, type ipconfig /renew, enter, type ipconfig /flushdns, enter, exit.

Is this like another way same result?

Xyvana - June 15, 2013, 4:24 pm

Thank you, saved it for in the future, always usefull :)

Dr SteroidZ - June 15, 2013, 4:40 pm

Great post man will be using this often.

Pleppo - June 25, 2013, 1:58 pm

Doesn't work, it doesn't change nothing o.o ...

Supremehunter - June 25, 2013, 2:42 pm

Thanks for the tutorial bro, guess i could have used this if that megaupload shit was still around lool

twvt - August 5, 2013, 1:36 pm

Already knew this, nice tut though.

blizzard - August 5, 2013, 7:11 pm

thought it was good of you to give that info at least you are doing something...thanks bro

believe it or not there are some people who really don't know this...good work cheaper too gotta love that aspect...lol

used ho tspot shield once damn thing kept fckn up ...might have been my fault don't think so though..I think it suckks..my opinion and it's free too....lol

Devising - August 6, 2013, 4:04 am

I read this somewhere i'm pretty sure this only worked on windows xp but i don't know never tried it, correct me if i'm wrong.

this thread is also kind of old though.

mikehackforums69 - October 31, 2013, 3:38 pm

awesome will use this in the future.

Developments - November 2, 2013, 1:22 pm
