Thread: [\[Help\] Easy Photoshop question \(Large transparent background\)](#)

Syberpro - September 27, 2010, 3:57 pm

Hey , I made a " download " button today but here is the problem!

since i needed space to work i used a large background

Preview:

And if i delete the background layer it comes out like this:

Now if i saved as PNG (background transparent) :

but as you can see theres a large space all around the long method i used was to change the canvas size until it fits well but im sure theres a faster method merge all layeers, ctrl + click on the little pic (in the layers menu) copy, create new, it will be the right dimensions, paste

Either that or...

Copy the image, then open a new document in photoshop with a smaller size and paste it there.

sorry if this may seems noob but

- 1.i selected the layer and tried right clicking and did not see copy
2. so i selected the layer and CTRL + C
3. then made a new but when i paste it was right dimension but no button inside xD

Crop tool, make a rectangular marquee around the button with a little space to spare then image>crop.
