

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Omni You're Infecting Your Members

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:01 pm

When you click on the "BANK, PAYPAL, ID FRAUD" subforum it takes you to adf.ly link.

Well there some ads filled with a Java DriveBy. I know it's adf.ly's fault but you should check it out.

[img]http://img707.imageshack.us/img707/3323/infectx.png[/img]

iRtehLeet™ - October 2, 2010, 1:02 pm

I don't think Omni intended this and its probably a false positive.

Corrupt. - October 2, 2010, 1:03 pm

i don't know what to say apart from repfuck is upon you son.

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:03 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:02 PM)iRtehLeet™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think Omni intended this and its probably a false positive.

Who puts JAVA in hidden iFrames? No one.

Vorfin - October 2, 2010, 1:04 pm

What page gives you that detection?

Riddle - October 2, 2010, 1:06 pm

When I tried it I got an amazon ad :/ Wasn't a drive-by, like Vorfin said, what ad gives you a detection.

Also I think Omni should just remove the adf.ly and just make it redirect to fbi.gov like it used to be.

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:06 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:04 PM)Vorfin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What page gives you that detection?

I'm not too sure since adf.ly randomly gives ads.

ESET pop up with a detection of the site above.

cobija - October 2, 2010, 1:06 pm

Hes trying to click here:

<https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=68>

It was probably something on the adf.ly link, not sure though.

@OP

Omni has no control over what adf.ly has as ads. Probably something in there triggered it. Btw, that link only transfers to www.fbi.gov .

Charmz - October 2, 2010, 1:07 pm

???

This thread serves no purpose. Staff please remove.

Vorfin - October 2, 2010, 1:09 pm

Oh, the adf.ly link goes to a DriveBy? That makes sense really, do you have the adf.ly page so I can report it to them?

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:13 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:09 PM)Vorfin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh, the adf.ly link goes to a DriveBy? That makes sense really, do you have the adf.ly page so I can report it to them?
I can't find it. I tried visiting the link, no dice.

Widow's Peak - October 2, 2010, 1:14 pm

What he's trying to say is that people pay adfly to put their drivebys so that when you click on a adfly link redirection their driveby comes up, and Omni is hosting adfly links.

Symbiotic - October 2, 2010, 1:17 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:14 PM)camgaertner Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What he's trying to say is that people pay adfly to put their drivebys so that when you click on a adfly link redirection their driveby comes up, and Omni is hosting adfly links.

Exactly, not as if they don't deserve it though they are clicking on the fraud forum.

Momiji - October 2, 2010, 1:21 pm

I clicked on a different adf.ly recently and got hit. The site was brainbond.co.cc

Same as the OP's

Scincid - October 2, 2010, 1:21 pm

What happened to the fbi.gov link? Should put something like: We have now logged your IP, you will be reported shortly. :D

Frap - October 2, 2010, 1:22 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:02 PM)iRtehLeet™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think Omni intended this and its probably a false positive.

LOL a false positive? Let me hide JAVA in my site and you go ahead and visit.

averageuser - October 2, 2010, 1:23 pm

You do realize that adfly contains 3rd party content completely unrelated to HackForums, right?

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:24 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:14 PM)camgaertner Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What he's trying to say is that people pay adfly to put their drivebys so that when you click on a adfly link redirection their driveby comes up, and Omni is hosting adfly links.

Exploit Pack + Traffic = Shit ton of infections

(Oct 2, 2010 01:23 PM)420 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You do realize that adfly contains 3rd party content completely unrelated to HackForums, right?
derp.

Eminent - October 2, 2010, 1:24 pm

My security blocks multiple threats just from visiting this site. McAfee site adviser, and no script drive me crazy with all the threat pop ups

Tate - October 2, 2010, 1:25 pm

That seems like a problem with Adf.ly.

Tbh that forum should just be taken away. It has no purpose other than making the marketplace look bigger and more confusing than it is already.

Procrastination™ - October 2, 2010, 1:25 pm

Omg ye, it just tried to open up a jar file in my temp files >.<

Ugh I might still be infected, there was an enormous irregular program running in my task manager

Moof - October 2, 2010, 1:29 pm

Thats what you get for committing Fraud? I think Omni wants to teach people some lessons.

Torrance - October 2, 2010, 1:30 pm

It isn't Omni's fault, but it should be looked at if it is posing a risk.

Condoms - October 2, 2010, 1:31 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:01 PM)BFF HA Y AN BOI Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When you click on the "BANK, PAYPAL, ID FRAUD" subforum it takes you to adf.ly link.

Well there some ads filled with a Java DriveBy. I know it's adf.ly's fault but you should check it out.

Your pathetic.

Why did you even go there in first place?

BFF HA Y AN BOI - October 2, 2010, 1:33 pm

It wasn't me that found it.

And to be honest we all click it at least once. I've been here long enough to know where it goes.

Tate - October 2, 2010, 1:33 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:29 PM)Moof Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thats what you get for committing Fraud? I think Omni wants to teach people some lessons.

Don't tell me you've never clicked it. We all have, just to see what's in the forum, one time or another.

Condoms - October 2, 2010, 1:34 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:33 PM)BFF HA Y AN BOI Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It wasn't me that found it.

And to be honest we all click it at least once. I've been here long enough to know where it goes. If you knew where it goes... why click it?

Tate - October 2, 2010, 1:35 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:23 PM)420 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You do realize that adfly contains 3rd party content completely unrelated to HackForums, right?

That's the issue. He's warning Omni that he's accidentally linking people to viruses. This could cause a number of problems.

1. Members computers crashing, causing more works for white hats here.
2. Antiviruses blacklisting the site with an actual valid reason
3. Members leaving since they assume HF is behind the virus threat warning.

Notorious Mental - October 2, 2010, 1:36 pm

Well, it redirects me to fbi.gov, like always.

Torrance - October 2, 2010, 1:38 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:36 PM)Notorious Mental Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, it redirects me to fbi.gov, like always. Probably because we're upgraded members.

Zach - October 2, 2010, 2:45 pm

Ad.ly is responsible for the ads they solicit, Omnisicent's intention was not to infect, but to show the members that bank fraud is extremely illegal.

Symbiotic - October 2, 2010, 3:26 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 02:45 PM)Zach Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ad.ly is responsible for the ads they solicit, Omnisicent's intention was not to infect, but to show the members that bank fraud is extremely illegal.

This ^. Omni has no control over what adf.ly's ads are. Just report it to adf.ly and they will remove it.

Xerotic - October 2, 2010, 3:28 pm

This has happened to me too. Just my connection was terminated before I could catch the ad. it was adf.ly

Today - October 2, 2010, 3:28 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:03 PM)Corrupt. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i don't know what to say apart from

repfuck is upon you son.

What rep? There is no rep to fuck there.

This thread made my day though.

I would have tried to PM him about the issue instead maybe.

Miss Honey - October 2, 2010, 3:31 pm

It's not Omni that put the pages on Adf.ly, its the adf.ly team.

Moot - October 2, 2010, 3:34 pm

All I gotta say is OP is quite the silly goober. And it's not Omni doing it :)

JohnTitor - October 2, 2010, 3:34 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:25 PM)Tate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That seems like a problem with Adf.ly.

Tbh that forum should just be taken away. It has no purpose other than making the marketplace look bigger and more confusing than it is already.

Agreed.

And if this is going to be the future of adfly, then the referral link should at least be removed and made to a direct link.

Symbiotic - October 2, 2010, 3:37 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 03:34 PM)ToonArmy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Agreed.

And if this is going to be the future of adfly, then the referral link should at least be removed and made to a direct link.

Then adf.ly wouldn't make money from ads?

autocrossn - October 2, 2010, 3:38 pm

Why were you going to that section anywase What the fuck????

JohnTitor - October 2, 2010, 3:39 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 03:37 PM)Doctor House Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Then adf.ly wouldn't make money from ads?
I meant in the particular instance it is used on this board.

off topic

how long before an adfly spreading tut materialises...

Arrogance - October 2, 2010, 6:26 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:24 PM)BFF HA Y AN BOI Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exploit Pack + Traffic = Shit ton of infections

(Oct 2, 2010 01:23 PM)420 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You do realize that adfly contains 3rd party content completely unrelated to HackForums, right?
derp.Java drive-by = Exploit Pack? Guess what?

Reserve - October 2, 2010, 8:51 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:07 PM)Charmz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ???...

This thread serves no purpose. Staff please remove.
Why you hating on the kid he is right ... adf.ly sometimes has drivebys that aren't caught quick enough.

B-CuTT - October 2, 2010, 9:15 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:14 PM)camgaertner Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What he's trying to say is that people pay adfly to put their drivebys so that when you click on a adfly link redirection their driveby comes up, and Omni is hosting adfly links.Pretty much true, People Pay adfly for traffic. So adfly pays people to shorten URL's, so they get traffic to their site.

Paradoxum - October 2, 2010, 9:21 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:35 PM)Tate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's the issue. He's warning Omni that he's accidentally linking people to viruses. This could cause a number of problems.

1. Members computers crashing, causing more works for white hats here.
2. Antiviruses blacklisting the site with an actual valid reason
3. Members leaving since they assume HF is behind the virus threat warning.

I'll take care of the infected ones. To those infected, please PM me your HJT log or post at the HijackThis Analysis section.

pk3r4lif3 - October 2, 2010, 9:21 pm

Yeah I got this driveby too. (My anti virus blocked it)
woot 100 posts

Dikxos - October 2, 2010, 9:23 pm

why would he try to do this to us?

French Montana - October 2, 2010, 9:37 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:21 PM)ZonKyMan™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What happened to the fbi.gov link? Should put something like: We have now logged your IP, you will be reported shortly. :D

Lol, That would actually be pretty funny they would shit themselves.

Paradoxum - October 2, 2010, 9:44 pm

It reportedly does not affect Windows 7 users.

People who have one of the following Anti-Viruses should be safe, provided that their Anti-Viruses are updated.A-Squared

Avira AntiVir

BitDefender

Comodo

Dr.Web

Ikarus

Kaspersky or ESET Nod32

Mongrel - October 2, 2010, 9:47 pm

False Positive, Jesse has no possible affiliations to the link blocked by eset

Cam G - October 2, 2010, 9:48 pm

Yeah, thanks for that Paradoxum :), I believe I should be alright then. I'm on W7 and had Kaspersky AND Comodo running. As for the original post, Omniscient can't really control what goes on with ad.fly.

David9292 - October 2, 2010, 9:53 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 09:48 PM)Cam G Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, thanks for that Paradoxum :), I believe I should be alright then. I'm on W7 and had Kaspersky AND Comodo running. As for the original post, Omniscient can't really control what goes on with ad.fly.
actually he can block the link on hf... -.-

Mongrel - October 2, 2010, 9:54 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 09:53 PM)David9292 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) actually he can block the link on hf... -.-
So tell me, How can he block the link? In a large 30-50 posts per second board?

mambugaw - October 2, 2010, 10:05 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 09:54 PM)n1tr0b Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So tell me, How can he block the link? In a large 30-50 posts per second board?I think he means remove it and add a word filter.

[[R9]] - October 2, 2010, 10:07 pm

Quote:NOTE: BUYING HACKFORUM UBER
DOESN'T TEACH YOU
HOW TO HACK. I agree.

And omni have no control over adf.ly.
So please change thread title.

Elite Hacker 69 - October 2, 2010, 10:12 pm

What were you doing clicking on CC Fraud anyway? ?

SNIIIPED

Fail carder fails jaja

Paradoxum - October 2, 2010, 10:19 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 09:48 PM)Cam G Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, thanks for that Paradoxum :), I believe I should be alright then. I'm on W7 and had Kaspersky AND Comodo running. As for the original post, Omniscient can't really control what goes on with ad.fly.

In any case, should you feel worried, please PM an HJT log. ?

David9292 - October 2, 2010, 10:20 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 09:54 PM)n1tr0b Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So tell me, How can he block the link? In a large 30-50 posts per second board?

obviously its a unique url and he can make a word filter when it gets that url it gets replaced with something like or [Infected Link Removed]

Star Pker - October 2, 2010, 10:43 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:06 PM)cobija Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hes trying to click here:

<https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=68>

It was probably something on the adf.ly link, not sure though.

@OP

Omni has no control over what adf.ly has as ads. Probably something in there triggered it. Btw, that link only transfers to www.fbi.gov .

Omfg...i just clicked that link and got drive byed? Gg my computer. I am not kidding either...

Retro - October 2, 2010, 11:04 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 01:29 PM)Moof Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thats what you get for committing Fraud? I think Omni wants to teach people some lessons.

I'm pretty sure clicking it isn't committing a fraud.

....unless it actually contained blackhat shit.

mambugaw - October 2, 2010, 11:35 pm

(Oct 2, 2010 11:04 PM)Retro Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm pretty sure clicking it isn't committing a fraud.

....unless it actually contained blackhat shit.The fake fraud section contains this and no this isn't a master conspiracy by Omni and Adf.ly hahahaha Lunatics...

Zach - October 3, 2010, 12:52 am

I'll repost this as it seems to be forgotten.

Ad.ly is responsible for the advertisements they solicit. Omniscient is responsible for the advertisements he solicits. His intention was not to infect you, but to show and imply that bank fraud is extremely illegal.

Ad.ly is the one who displayed the ad that may have infected you, I suggest you contact them via their contact page to inform them of a potentially hazardous advertisement.

WhoTFCares - October 3, 2010, 1:09 am

<http://safeweb.norton.com/report/show?name=brainbond.co.cc>