tinmandon - November 11, 2010, 9:34 am

Correct me if I'm wrong but this has to be a clean install before it works..??

Blue Screen of Death - November 12, 2010, 4:33 am

Yes.. a clean install of Eset Nod 32 not of Eset Smart Security.

Blue Screen of Death - November 18, 2010, 7:29 am

UPDATED

Because some people reported few users and passwords not working i checked all of them, removed not working and added some new.
Here are them:) Enjoy!

Why are you calling this a good share?.

This guy is merely leeching of other websites copy pasting for + rep

On google there is around 10 pages daily updated with keys.

<http://www.nod32free.com/>

www.nod365.net

www.nod32keysfree.com

www.esetnod32keys.com

www.nod327.net

etc. All of these sites gives legit keys, daily updated, long expiration time. Esets detect these sites as malicious hence turning off protection temporarily is suggested
