Thread: Why does my blog never appear on google searches?

DJ Khale?d - October 17, 2010, 7:42 am

Is there something I have to do to make it... more searchable? >_<;

Sorry, this sound retarded but i'm just saying.

`Jett - October 17, 2010, 7:45 am

Im pretty sure enough people have to visit it or actually search it for it to be found or something I dont really know. But what I did was I submitted my Website which in your case your blog and then submit it to Google to be in there search engine and they accept all websites and it shouldn't take long. Ill find you the link hold on.

Edit: Here you go <http://www.google.com/addurl/>

What sort of domain have you got?

If you want i can put your domain in my scrapebox rapid indexer which should index it quickly.

When you create a blog, it will ask you if you want it to appear on search engines for privacy purposes. Hope this helps.

Send viruses to the retards on yahoo messenger that makes them open your vlog and they will be like, THIS BLOG IS THE AWESOMZ IN MY PANTS. And you get traffic.

Use traffic exchange sites like EasyHits4U or buy traffic for 1 pound for a year at You-Cubez.

Will These traffic sites click on adds so you can cheat google adsense? Make some quick cash?

When you get traffice you can get google adsense. Use this to earn a ton of quick money by cheating google adsense. <http://www.cheatad.com/2006/04/27/how-to-cheat-google-adsense/>

Using traffic with adsense is tracked and gets you banned as fast as shit.
I'm just looking for some legit ways to promote my site >_<'

Twitter is a very good way to promote your site and so is YouTube.

Try to get some traffic, try ViewingNetwork, Paid Traffic etc.
Or make articles with a link to your site and mass submit.

robotronc3 - October 17, 2010, 1:15 pm to make your blog appear in google searches you need to submit it at <http://google.com/addurl> and after 24-48 hrs. when google will refresh its new submitted sites, you can see your site in the search.
