Thread: Selling Myspace account 365+ friends - Can be used for spamming their comments.

[David]-- X - May 13, 2009, 11:39 am

Hey,
Im selling a myspace account with 365 friends. for only $5. Lets say you buy this, you will have the ability to spam their comments, PM's, etc with your website URL, and any other messages you would like to spam.

PM for more details.

Just a heads up, someone latley just tried to sell an account with 300,000 friends, and the reply was this:

No one is going to purchase a freaking myspace account. No one.

Ok you might not be someone might want to buy one. You can spam your affiliate links to make cash. Now if your going to ruin some ones thread in a sale section then get off the sale section....

I don't think your friend would appreciate you spreading embarrassing information about him.

What you just described = FAIL

i have a dailymotion with over +50 videos and you can use it for u...spam and etc...in my case its fine because i upladed over 1000 videos and most of them are down by violation but i didn't understand that you are selling a myspace account no need it.

i have +900 MSN conctects i can send them a email for 1$ or send a msg to +2800 members of my forum for 3$..

hope that helped you understand what we meant.

Anyone whom would pay $500 for a free MySpace account is FAIL. It takes half a brain and a little bit of time in front of a computer (which most of us have anyways) to get a Myspace with a good number of fake friends.

The man that pays $500 for virtual friends is a idiot.
