Thread: [Ask C4Vendetta! \[ULLF\]](#)

Warbiest - November 1, 2010, 9:29 am

Hey you!

There are allot of new people starting GFX, and that brings allot of questions involving PhotoShop and Graphics.

Hence why I made this thread, here you can ask about anything.

From simple things, to serious problems.

I prefer questions about Graphics and PhotoShop. But you can ask me anything.

Now, ask away![]

CoNsEqUeNcE - November 1, 2010, 9:39 am

Why, I ask, do you have the name C4Vendetta, and have something similar to a gorilla for an avatar?

Warbiest - November 1, 2010, 9:43 am

One night, I watched the movie "V For Vendetta". Which I found amazingly awesome.

Just a little later, I found a game hacking forum which I joined. I wanted to call myself V4Vendetta, but I hit "C" instead of "V" (look at you keyboard).

Pretty stupid, but I somehow liked it. It's different, and fits me.

The avatar I'm using is Bobo, the first forum I joined had a dancing monkey emoticon called Bobo. This is the adult, aggressive version. And it's a sexy gif.

CoNsEqUeNcE - November 1, 2010, 9:49 am

I didn't expect that story ?. Interesting.

www.GFXForums.net is a great forum, it has quit some tutorials in the tutorial section. Obviously.

www.sigutorials.com is a good site too. Mainly beginners tutorials.

www.delta-visions.net is another forum, but with a great range of tutorials. From beginner to advanced.

Noobiew - November 1, 2010, 10:58 am

Nice topic :D. How long you have been designing? Do you have any tips for beginners? What is your favorite tutorial site? And lost but not least can you show me some nice grunge signatures? Almost all beginner signature tutorials are grunge signature tutorials and they suck. Can you please show me a nice grunge signature?

Thank you very much man!

Warbiest - November 1, 2010, 11:09 am

I've been into Graphics for about 10 months, and I don't really use tutorial sites any more.
But look at the post above for some good sites :P

I think a beginner should mainly do allot of signatures or designs, depending on what they want to learn.

Try allot of different style and learn as much techniques as you can. After that just keep practising.

So you want grunge signatures? Not tutorials.

This are some very nice pieces:

LOL I have been into GFX for 3 years now i First Started When I Got A Crcked Version Of Photoshop CS2

and have been practicing ever since

I don' mean to brag but

I have completed over 1500 tutorials and got 3 books to learn Photoshop and Subscribed to 3 Photoshop Magazines and got over 50 discs for Photoshop Learning

So I Think You Are Still Not a Complete Pro Yet

You Have So Much Ahead Of You

I have been in the business for 3 years and i have a lot to learn ahead of me

It has been said by many artists and designers that you need at least 5 years of training to be able to unlock the full potentials of Photoshop

This is a thread to help people out with issues involving Graphics and PhotShop.

Adding the option of asking other questions does not take away from its original purpose.
Now stop spamming this thread with useless comments.

Simple.

You know, I grew up with little. Little as in not having expensive toys and stuff. And now I really don't need them.

The best thing I could think of is a ticket for the cinema, some coupon for something, or just some cash.

It are the warm nights together with family, laughing, that are the best about Christmas to me.

What font would you recommend if I would want a very "square"-like font. edgy and not too round, good for 3d?

Using for a logo. Rather fat, wide, bold.

How come you're awesome?

Kind of.

Mostly I first burn the sides, then dodge the places light's going trough.

Then using a 200px or so soft brush on "soft light" or "colour dodge" I create a sort of light source and beam, to finish it.

I do think so.

I like to believe that I have a very obvious way of smudging, which I do in most of my tags, trying to master the smudging.

However, I do not have a permanent style, yet. So I still try something different now and then.

Not really great, but not horrible either.

I don't have a pad, I could afford one, but I don't actually need one.

So I won't bother spending money on it.

Ridding giraffes? Why not.

And you can't actually flip a cow, it's impossible.

EDIT: Here's a tut. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=798568>

<http://www.brushking.eu/>

Download brushes (vectors) there.

Unzip them with WinRar, and place them in program files> PS > APP > CS5 > Presets > Brushes.

You only want to place the .abr file there.

Now, (first close) open PhotoShop, and go to EDIT > Preset Manager. A little window will pop up, in top part of the window you will see "preset type". Make sure it says "Brushes" now click on the arrow, on the far right. And choose the brushes you want to load. When a window pops up, click "append".
