Check for API hooks on "send" and "recv" - pretty simple to implement.

Anti-bot is going to be hard to implement since gamehackers will just call functions and read from memory addresses and not modified the memory bytes (may do some value modifications).

You could do some anti-dll injection code but some legit dll's will be blocked for example; xfire, fraps and so on.

Do you have source code for ragnarok?

If so i could make you a DLL with some simple protection to be loaded into game.

If not and the PE is not encrypted i could insert my dll into IAT to get loaded up and you could use like a packer to encrypt the PE so people just can't wipe my IID

Just remember though...

Anything can be bypassed.

what your asking for, if someoen did develop, would charge MILLIONS of dollars for.

I don't want your client/server files.

They won't benefit me writting a anti-packet editor.

You just need to load up my dll in your client.

Well i'm off to bed now. I'll start coding it tomorrow.
