Looks very good mate. I would buy if I had the money. Also, I may be blond but I don't see speeds. Would you mind saying what the down/up speeds are?

EDIT: Spelling error in title btw

EDIT: Spelling error in title btw Thanks, fixed.

Anyways, the speeds are dependent on your internet connection, as that is what it is using.

Indifference - November 3, 2010, 4:06 pm

Wells let's say a Fiber Optic connection where my download speeds is around 18MB/s and upload at 16MB/s? Just wondering, in case I round up the money to buy.

It will be slightly less than that

It should not make it much slower, I am noticing almost no difference and I have similar speeds at 14mb/s/12mb/s

Indifference - November 3, 2010, 4:10 pm

Really? That is indeed very convincing. With [censored] I only get about 4MB/s down on good days with no other speed consuming applications open.

Added a rating btw. Good luck with sales!

Are you testing via speedtest?

If so that could be wrong figures

So you do not mind if we torrent on the VPN?

Is the VPN on 1GB port?

What kind of VPN do you use? Openvpn?

Thanks.

blackshades - November 3, 2010, 4:21 pm

We are using PPTP at the moment, but will implement L2PT later on.

And yes, it's 1Gbit port.

Swat Runs Train - November 3, 2010, 4:22 pm

Logs or not? It's a shame it doesn't use open VPN, it's far more secure that way, since other ways rely on tunneling.

OpenVPN is difficult for some people to set up, when they have to deal with certificates and so. PPTP is available from cellphones, most platforms has it inbuilt and ready to go.

So far, the VPN service is in its beta stage. When L2PT (IPSec) support has been released, it'll make it almost as safe as OpenVPN.

Heh, our other next few products won't be exactly malware related.

We got 3 products which are basically ready for sale at any given moment, after we do the setup

Your server is located in the United States and it does not store logs? Does it meet all of these requirements for anonimity?:

- It does not store payment information
- It does not store browsing information
- It does not store user account information
- It does not monitor your activies?

We store payment information in case of chargeback that we can disable the account.

We don't log anything you browse or monitor anything you do.

And yes, it is in USA.

Zeon - November 7, 2010, 9:23 am

Who owns the servers? Is our payment information linked with the IPs that we purchase? Will you hand it over to the police if so requested?

xvisceral - November 7, 2010, 9:30 am

The server is owned by a company that we pay for monthly.

If the police come asking because you are doing some sort of fraud, I will gladly tell them anything I know about you.

Zeon - November 7, 2010, 9:33 am

Not fraud, a botnet. Who said anything about fraud?

xvisceral - November 7, 2010, 10:27 am

Then no, of course not. We just do not allow fraud.

OK, VPN sales closed as we have sold as many account as as we have IP addresses. We will reopen when more are available!

just made the payment... now waiting for login details quick question... did you just triple the IP addresses you have or also trippled the bandwidth available to these IPs? As in is the experience (speed, reliability) going to decrease as you pile more and more IPs/VPN accounts on the same server.

The problem there is that the server settings are encrypted and are not decrypting properly sometimes...

password.

xvisceral - November 16, 2010, 11:53 am

I am not sure why it would do that, but it would probably interfere because of the two connections....

Is it connected like this?

Laptop Internet --> iPhone internet and from iPhone you try to connect?

I would assume you would connect to VPN on laptop, then it would automatically be using that internet on phone? hm

The Swedish government already approved FRA's (National Defence Radio Establishment) laws regarding signal-surveillance a while ago.

FRA's mainly focus is to help the military and prevent terrorism.

In Sweden, if you're suspected for anything that may result in at least 2 years of prison, you might risk being monitored.

Yeah but thats from last year, this is some new crazy law the want to approve in the parliment(?) that will log everything. FRA just says that the National Defence has the right to monitor your transmissions ;)

Does the VPN support UPnP?

xvisceral - November 23, 2010, 11:01 am

(Nov 23, 2010 10:37 AM)Zeon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Does the VPN support UPnP?

Of course not, we don't use UPnP, the ports are just open.

No, we cannot do free trials because it is very expensive to keep up the server

Zeon - November 24, 2010, 1:26 pm

Who owns the VPNs? Any proof that it doesn't store logs?

xvisceral - November 24, 2010, 1:29 pm

We own the VPN, it is on our dedicated server.

K!NG OF CHI - November 25, 2010, 6:17 am

Ok lemme write a little Review.

The Blackshades Company is awesome :-)
I just sold some Bots via the Blackshades Rat. got about 65 $:-) within a few days.

With that earning i bought some free av Scans :-) (really fast and easy to set up)
And for the rest i bought this VPN.

Well the main Point in VPNS is -> Fast and no logging.

Well the Setup was really easy; just use the Windows Tools to setup a VPN. (takes u about 1 minute; 2 minutes if u are stupid; and 3 minutes if u are a mega noob to let xvis or Marjinz set u this up via Teamviewer).

So nevermind about ur knowledge; u will get this Shit working :-)

After a short restart i just started the VPN Connection and baam i am from the USA :-)

lemme post u a speedtest:

[img]http://www.speedtest.net/result/1044830350.png[/img]

I most note that i have a 16 Mbit Bandwith from Europe!

Infact thats fucking fast!

So i can really vouch for all! Blackshades Products; the Rat awesome at all; the Av Scanner; really needed if u are spreading and the VPN also needed to be secure :-) Xvis and Marjinz; Thank u Guys for developing such great Tools.

U deserve every Cent u earn.

Kindly Regards
Urs Karpaltunnel :-)

Zeon - November 25, 2010, 1:44 pm

I currently have a 64kps connection, when using the VPN what will it drop to? Also, do you store our payment information?

xvisceral - November 25, 2010, 3:46 pm

We keep records with how people pay to make sure we can delete accounts that pay fraudulently.

HaCkTrOjaN - November 25, 2010, 4:56 pm

i addedd u in msn . gonna buy 1 year ;)

xvisceral - November 25, 2010, 5:05 pm

sure, i am online right now

Zeon - November 26, 2010, 2:03 pm

Will you hand over payment records to the police if you are asked to?

xvisceral - November 26, 2010, 4:28 pm

Just don't buy, you keep asking the same questions over and over. We don't log anything, so there is nothing we can do besides offer over all customers payment information which wouldn't get them very far anyways, if they even asked, but they wouldn't unless you are doing some sort of fraud

Zeon - November 26, 2010, 4:41 pm

I don't suppose RATING counts as fraud, does it? Also, will I get refunded if I buy this and my ports still won't open?

xvisceral - November 26, 2010, 4:47 pm

Yeah, but there is no reason they won't open

Zeon - November 26, 2010, 4:50 pm

Trust me, 10 VPNs later my ports still aren't open. Will be purchasing from you shortly.

xvisceral - November 26, 2010, 9:45 pm

Error could be your windows firewall then, or AV firewall...

Zeon - November 27, 2010, 2:07 am

No, I uninstalled them and I still have that problem.

If I bought your VPN would you help me set it up with cybergate or dark comet?

xvisceral - November 27, 2010, 2:25 pm

No, I will not help you set up a RAT.

warg - November 27, 2010, 2:30 pm

I'm sorry but plimus is rejecting my payment to you. Could i pay you anyway easier?

xvisceral - November 27, 2010, 2:33 pm

If you can pay via Alertpay, LR, WMZ then yes

warg - November 27, 2010, 2:35 pm

Please tell me price in WMZ for 1 Month.

xvisceral - November 27, 2010, 2:39 pm

It's the same price no matter the payment method

warg - November 27, 2010, 2:40 pm

Ok if the second payment is also refused i will stop it and send you 5$ WMZ for a month.

Cybomber - November 27, 2010, 8:17 pm

Can anyone confirm how fast this is? I've used a few VPN's and so far the only one that was halfways decent was Perfect Privacy but it's expensive. Right now I'm using Ipredator and it sucks monkey balls. It's slow as hell and half the time I can't connect. I want a vpn that has open ports but not something that slows my surfing and downloading and only works about 70% of the time.

fuk dot - November 27, 2010, 8:29 pm

Code Q: Do you allow fraud?

A: Under no circumstance.
meaning?

PlaySkool - November 27, 2010, 8:52 pm

Vouch for this VPN! Been using it for 2 days and it is very good.

Cybomber - November 27, 2010, 9:08 pm

I bought a 3 month membership. Then Plimus starts asking for a phone number they can reach me at and when's the best time to call me? WTF? I don't want some douch-nozzle calling me to verify my information. That's why I gave my information to paypal! So I could buy stuff online without having to give it to every other butt plug company on the internet that wants to insert themselves into the billing process and build up a nice big hackable database.? .

It didn't say for sure they would call but is this normal? Do they actually call anyone?

xvisceral - November 27, 2010, 9:32 pm

Then don't put your phone number and don't buy it.

Cybomber - November 27, 2010, 9:43 pm

it's nothing against you. I don't want Plimus calling me and they waited until after the payment went through and THEN informed me they need to review payments and need a phone number to reach me at. I know it's not your fault!

I'm travelling right now so I ended up having to change my phone number to my prepaid cell after the fact (since they didn't mention this beforehand) which probably sets off all kinds of alarms at Plimus so now things are probably all f'd up.

xvisceral - November 27, 2010, 9:46 pm

It's if you have inconsistent billing information which makes them raise their eye
:p iDarky - November 28, 2010, 12:06 am

why can't I connect to the VPN!

warg - November 28, 2010, 1:33 am

Please tell me the WMZ purse for get 5$ from me. I will reply on that PM the username and pw for vpn.

mrroxi - November 28, 2010, 11:01 am i cant connect to the VPN come on guys!

merked - November 28, 2010, 11:36 am

This is a great VPN service. Not sure about the others with issues, but I have had this VPN about a month now and had 0 issues since my purchase.

dutchman25 - November 28, 2010, 12:23 pm

Its from the beginning for me seriously terrible..It disconnect numerous times per minute and the connection speed is too low to load a webpage properly.

xvisceral - November 28, 2010, 1:08 pm

Of course it is disconnecting numerous times per minute, our host totally screwed us and won't fix the problem, and keep saying "OK, there's no problem" and closing our tickets!

dutchman25 - November 28, 2010, 1:21 pm

It isnt ok because I'm not able to use the service where I paid for. They cant say "everything is ok" because its really shitty at the moment I cant surf normal with the VPN connection hopefully it will be fixed soon otherwise it was a waste of my money.

xvisceral - November 28, 2010, 3:58 pm

You're right, everything is not okay, we don't want to deal with this, but customer service where our server located is next to none, and I am pretty sure they are harming us more than helping us.

We told them to even try to connect to our server and see, and they keep telling us that the password must be wrong because they cannot get in. They cannot get down because the server is not up.

It's very frustrating to deal with them and our customers. Hell, we have at least 1,000 customers and they are not pleased and this is making us look bad when it isn't even our fault. They put us behind cisco guard to "protect us" and since then, nothing has worked.

xvisceral - November 28, 2010, 10:42 pm

we are now back up...thanks for holding tight so, please PM me again if you have any problems regards and good night...

Can I have one day free trial?

Opening ports in my router is not working, it's probably an ISP problem. Anyway, how do I use it with my RAT (or anything)?

dutchman25 - November 29, 2010, 9:54 am

Its working perfectly now, sorry for my frustations but it was annoying because I couldnt use the service where I paid for.

I used this for a week, worked fine. Now during the time the host was down i couldn't connect, and now when its fixed every time i connect i lose my internet connection.

Why is that so?

Yes we allow RATs

for the static IP it would be a bit more, because that would lessen the available IPs for other users 100% of the time

If you pay for Blackshades RAT, u should get the package with the 1 month VPN and save yourself a few bucks. Your blackshades will auto be mailed to you when cleared, and then I can mail you the VPN info once I see the order and process your VPN credentials (cannot be automated) blackshades - December 10, 2010, 7:24 am

A security flaw was revealed that allows third parties to findreal IP-address of someone connected through a VPN.

Only Windows Vista and Windows 7 machines are vulnerable to this security flaw.

Blackshades Team highly suggest costumers to disable IPv6 immideately!

Follow these steps in order to disable IPv6 on Windows 7:

1. Open the Start menu and enter the Control Panel

2. Choose Network and Sharing Center
3. In the menu to the left, choose Change adapter settings.
4. Right click on your Blackshades VPN connection and choose Properties.
5. Then click the Networking tab and deselect Internet Protocol Version 6 (TCP/IPv6).
6. Then press OK and repeat these steps on your regular connection (Local Area Connection and WiFi adapter(s)).

Follow these steps in order to disable IPv6 on Windows Vista:

1. Open the Start menu and enter the Control Panel
(If you have the Control Panel set to Classic view change to Control Panel Home.)
2. Choose Network and Internet
3. Choose Network and Sharing Center
4. In the menu to the left, choose Change adapter settings.
5. Right click on your Blackshades VPN connection and choose Properties.
6. Then click the Networking tab and deselect Internet Protocol Version 6 (TCP/IPv6).
7. Then press OK and repeat these steps on your regular connection (Local Area Connection and WiFi adapter(s)).

IPv6 should now be completely disabled!

Some good news, we are building a website for this and also will be setting up auto payment options on it. Look forward to it.

I tried to purchase it with my credit card,
I fill out my information, it redirects me to a blank page.

Does anyone know what the remote subnet and the remote subnet mask are for this VPN?

XXX - December 17, 2010, 8:14 pm

Is VPN down right now? I can't connect

xvisceral - December 17, 2010, 10:31 pm

I think the server was down for a bit, as a strangely low amount of people are online.

Or I think the computer restarted, because it kept bugging about windows update and trying to restart

XXX - December 18, 2010, 9:15 am

VPN still isn't working correctly. It now lets me sign in, but I can't load any sites.

Yes there seems to be an error with the DNS.

xvisceral - December 18, 2010, 9:22 am

It should work 100% now, I'm on it, and we got 10 people connected, if not, try refreshing your DNS settings

TeemoProd - December 18, 2010, 9:44 am

Yeah its def not working for me.

No problems with the connection :) Working fine atm

XXX - December 18, 2010, 2:04 pm

XXX - December 18, 2010, 7:07 pm

Can you respond on MSN whenever you aren't busy... I need to get this working.

xvisceral - December 18, 2010, 7:33 pm

I did respond, I asked for your name to make sure ur account is not expired

Cybomber - December 18, 2010, 8:49 pm

It hasn't been working for me either. How do you "flush the dns info"?

xvisceral - December 18, 2010, 10:03 pm

Well, we added L2TP type to the VPN and it seems that it is screwing up for about 1/10 people.

I will tell marjinz to disable that, then all should go back to normal.

Also, we have created PHP functions to manage the accounts, which means we can now do the following through PHP:

- Change password
- Add Account
- Edit Expire Date
- Ban account

good news for this, is that IPN can finally be implemented (auto payment delivery) and the building of our website can continue.

You will be able to login and see when your account expires, change password, buy time and have it automatically add to your account, and such.

We will also have a support ticket system to make sure all queries are resolved. Trust me when I say the design will blow you away aswell - we got a real pro handling it ?

Full Control - December 19, 2010, 12:14 pm

nVPN < Blackshades

OK, I will remove my claim and feel free to edit out yours, some customers told me things, I wouldn't want to trash your thread or anything.

Yes, I have customers in Saudi Arabia and China and such, they get some latency but it is still manageable. With things like this, people could complain really easily.

Most of my customers don't complain about the speed besides some that live really far from my server and have > 700ms ping to the server. Also, In some cases, because of OpenVPN limitations once a customer connects to the server he loses connection to the internet, In most cases is that their ISP block some core packets used to communicate between servers how does PPTP differ from openvpn ? thanks, I think I am currently leaning towards blackshades vpn as ::damn:: doesn't seem to be replying to my pm or posts.

xvisceral - December 20, 2010, 8:46 pm

PPTP is available as default for many things, such as iPhones and Xboxes even. For OpenVPN, you need an app, but the encryption key is of a longer length (harder to decode).

Will this support a stable XBL connection and have DDoS protection?

raven_ - December 28, 2010, 4:08 pm

Heres my story:

I need a VPN with an IP that only I use.

PayPal limited my account. I'm currently creating a fresh bank account to create a new paypal account.

To realize this I however need a VPN that wont get me blacklisted and/or limited as soon as I log into this account.

Is this possible? of course if required I will pay additional fees

xvisceral - December 28, 2010, 7:32 pm

I wouldn't say it is DDoS protected, but our server shouldn't be able to be DDoSed by anybody on xbox live, which yes, you can use it for.

Raven: It would be double the price of any package for that feature.

As for your paypal troubles, I don't know anything about that.

You should try looking at this and seeing if it can help:

Configure the client computer

To configure the encryption settings on the client computer, follow these steps:

1. Click Start, and then click Connect to.
2. Right-click the VPN connection that you want, and then click Properties.
3. Click the Security tab, click Advanced (Custom Settings), and then click Settings.
4. In the Data encryption box, click Maximum strength encryption (disconnect if server declines), and then click OK two times.

If it fails, try reading more here

Flightofstairs - December 29, 2010, 9:43 am cool now its error 806, I will see if I can figure that one out, but it was working for a week and now just stopped yesterday/lastnight

xvisceral - December 29, 2010, 9:58 am

806 is almost always caused by a firewall

Flightofstairs - December 29, 2010, 10:10 am

I got no firewall on right now, and did not add any AV or anything like that yesterday that would stop it.

It was working all on this same computer same internet connection, and just stopped.

xvisceral - December 29, 2010, 10:18 am

Is it possible u downloaded anything that could have changed settings?

A possible fix would be trying a system restore - something was obviously changed as we haven't changed anything.

Also - 806 could refer to an option in your router. Your router firewall or an option to disable VPN access could be causing it.

Flightofstairs - December 29, 2010, 10:30 am

The VPN mererly act as an IP replacement for security - hides IP & encrypts network traffic, just use no-ip and point it to the VPN and the RAT can be accesed from anywhere when your connected to the VPN. Make sure the VPN supports portforwarding altough.

I need some assistance. There's obviously something wrong with my setup here and I just don't know enough about this stuff to figure out what it is.

I have Windows 7 64 bit and a wireless router. I used to use ipredator and everything worked ok. I could use cybergate, emule, Mirc. etc. Then I had to restore my laptop to factory state. Now I've got BS vpn AND ipredator and neither one will allow any connections on cybergate, emule shows me as being firewalled, and I can't confirm this yet but I don't think people can innitiate a DC chat with me on mirc anymore. (I'll look in to that in more detail later it might be just coincidence).

Basically if I put on a vpn and run cybergate (and update no-ip of course) I get NOTHING. As soon as I turn it off and update no-ip I start getting connections immediatly.

Is there a setting in Windows I need to fix? UAC maybe? network settings?

xvisceral - January 12, 2011, 2:06 pm

Have you turned off all firewalls when you connect to it?

Cybomber - January 12, 2011, 2:22 pm

(Jan 12, 2011 03:06 PM)xvisceral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Have you turned off all firewalls when you connect to it?

I have windows firewall on. I turned it off and still no connections. Am I supposed to turn off windows firewall when using a a vpn? As I said, everything works fine as soon as I turn the vpn off regardless of whether the firewall is on or off.

xvisceral - January 12, 2011, 2:56 pm

Have you updated no-ip after connecting to vpn?

Cybomber - January 12, 2011, 3:28 pm

(Jan 12, 2011 03:56 PM)xvisceral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Have you updated no-ip after connecting to vpn? Yes. I have the DUC client running at all times. This has been going on for months. I just stopped using the vpn's for anything other then surfing but I'd like to get to the bottom of it and find out why this is happening.

I have even left cybergate running with the vpn on for hours hoping to see something pop up but I have never gotten a connection.

Other then restoring my laptop nothing else has changed in my home setup since the days when it DID work with ipredator.

Could it have anything to do with the host file? I remember screwing around with the host file trying to install a cracked program not long after restoring the laptop.

Now in Drivers/etc/ I have a hosts.txt and an lmhosts.sam

Do these files have anything to do with the vpn?

xvisceral - January 12, 2011, 4:08 pm

hosts.txt won't effect anything, infact, it is a useless file and will do nothing the correct file is hosts without an extension, and that would not affect anything. Open cybergate and then test your port on canyouseeme.org for your RAT. Does it show open?

Cybomber - January 12, 2011, 4:23 pm

OK so I tested the ports with cybergate open and the VPN off. I had connections from clients and canyouseeme showed the ports were open.

Then I put on ipredator and lost the connections on cybergate. I updated the DUC and still no connections.

So I went to canyouseeme and it says the port is open still.

Then I disconnected from Ipredator and put on BS vpn and it also showed the ports were open.

xvisceral - January 12, 2011, 4:31 pm

Then I don't see what the issue could be. It could be cybergate?

Chaos Theory - January 14, 2011, 2:27 am

EDIT: Fixed, turned off windows firewall + defender. One of those was stopping me ;o.

I'm having the exact same problem as Cybomber with Cybergate. I just bought the VPN, and whenever I connect to it, I lose all my connections on Cybergate. I've refreshed the DUC client etc. The DUC refreshes the IP every 5 seconds when on the VPN as compared to 5 minutes with my router? Shouldn't make a difference though. Ehhhh :/.

KroN1K - January 14, 2011, 3:19 am

That looks very tempting to buy im not gonna lie :)

ManiaC89 - January 20, 2011, 1:09 pm

I just bought 3 months subscription but I have big latency and low speeds, only 0.5/0.4 mbit.

[\[IMG\]http://www.speedtest.net/result/1120367117.png\[IMG\]](http://www.speedtest.net/result/1120367117.png)

xvisceral - January 20, 2011, 1:18 pm

You have to realize that it is dependent on your speeds, and your location relative to the server.

ManiaC89 - January 20, 2011, 1:30 pm

I have 5mbit downlink and 1mbit uplink.
Tried with [censored] and speeds were ok..

xvisceral - January 20, 2011, 1:44 pm

Im assuming you are in EU, maybe even Germany?

ManiaC89 - January 20, 2011, 2:22 pm

Yes I'm from Europe (not Germany).

When connected to cybeghost VPN, ping says 150ms, and speed is ok.

Does 250ms ping makes so big difference?

xvisceral - January 20, 2011, 3:34 pm

It does make a difference

The server is here in the USA, and [censored] is in Germany. We are looking at getting a Germany server very soon Anyone else getting errors 619, 628 or 807 when trying to connect to the VPN? Using Win7 btw..

Kick Buttowski - January 22, 2011, 3:42 am

619 Error :-It is almost always a problem with a firewall on the client machine, or the firewall the client is behind breaking PPTP. Since it works from one location, I'm sure that's what it is. Switching to m0n0wall isn't going to fix it, you need to fix the firewall(s) on the client side. Error 628: The port is disconnected or The connection was terminated by the remote computer before it could be completed. This is most likely a modem or phone line noise issue or blocking port issue.

Resolutions:

- 1) make sure you have good phone line.
- 2) Upgrade the modem/router firmware
- 3) Make sure you logon using the correct username or password or try different username.
- 4) Reinstall the modem.
- 5) Re-enable RAS

- 6) Check the router/firewall settings.
- 7) Make sure the router is VPN pass through or GRE is enabled.

Jeez - January 22, 2011, 5:32 am

Problem seems to be in my modem which doesn't have a GRE/IP47 option.. Only getting error 807 now. I have all firewalls etc. on my PC and the modem disabled. All settings checked and port 1723 forwarded. Is the only option to get a newer modem or?

E: Modem is Telewell TW-EA501 (v1). Port-forwarding has always worked perfectly, this is the first problem I've ever had..

Jeez - January 22, 2011, 10:35 am

Nice to hear about the German server. EU users will have much lower latency with that hopefully. Gonna try your suggestion when I come home from this lan. I btw tested the VPN from the lan, and it worked just fine. We are behind a modem + hub, no configuration was required. Probably something wrong with my modem at home..

If you do not have open ports, the most likely reason is:

1. Your port needs to be activated to be opened
2. You need to turn windows firewall off/any firewall off
3. In Windows 7, you must set it as a "Home" connection

beer30 - February 2, 2011, 9:05 pm

Got an odd problem I can't figure out now. It will connect through another vpn but not without it. So I tried another fresh VM with firewalls turned off in the VM and my PC and still 721 error. I even went in my router and forwarded the port it's using thinking maybe that was blocking it and still same error.

xvisceral - February 2, 2011, 9:46 pm

Hi: To resolve this issue, configure the network firewall to permit GRE protocol 47. Also, make sure that the network firewall permits TCP traffic on port 1723. Both of these conditions must be met to establish VPN connectivity by using PPTP.

If you have done this and it still doesn't work, then I would say something is configured incorrectly. If you can PM me teamview info within next minute or so I will look over it for you real quickly, otherwise im going to sleep

If you are not showing open ports, the most likely reason is one of the following:

1. Your port needs to be activated to be opened
2. You need to turn windows firewall off/any firewall off
3. In Windows 7, you must set it as a "Home" connection. This means when a connection is first set up on Windows 7, it will ask you if it is a Home or Public network after you connect. If you chose public, ports will not be opened and you will need to redo it

However many people can use it. Just not at the same time. It will disconnect the other.

And to people asking about multiple PCs, this is NOT PC LOCKED. You just can't have two simultaneous connections.

Make sure that VPN passthrough is enabled on your router (if applicable).

Try by disabling all firewalls (router and OS).

If you still aren't able to connect, I'd say your ISP is blocking the GRE protocol.

hey I want to get a static ip, so how do I get it?

Protection - February 20, 2011, 11:56 pm

Vouch, Just bought a one month it works great. Also is there a tutorial or something on how to connect to xbl on a VPN? Because I've been trying for a little now and I can't figure it out.

StuffSneak - February 21, 2011, 12:14 am

I got it working now.

Thanks.

but the speed is tremendously slow than I usually get normally..

it takes almost 20 seconds just for google search..

whats the problem ?

-TheOmen- - February 21, 2011, 5:24 am

I found out problem, it used my old password I used before. The second time I bought I put a different password but it used my old one. Anyways I got it working =D how fast is this vpn for german users? might be better to use a german vpn provider is will this be good for me?

majinmartin93 - February 21, 2011, 10:50 am

Hi, my username on Blackshades is "MajinMartin93", i paid for a month of vpn and still waiting, i recieved:

While reviewing your order for Blackshades VPN-Default we noticed that the phone number you entered is either incorrect/incomplete or we were unable to reach you at that number.

Please visit the following link and provide us with a phone number where we can reach you at and when, so we can process your order:

then i did go there and update the contact number and i'm waiting until that moment. What's going on? :P

xvisceral - February 21, 2011, 12:04 pm

No it's not down but a ton of people are connected, wow

Time to buy more IP addresses and look at possible bandwidth increases

Are you in EU or Asia?

We will have an EU service soon I hope...

drifter000 - February 24, 2011, 8:28 am

Hello

Thinking of buying your VPN.

Is it slow in EU?

Does it work fine with cybergate?

After payment done how long for vpn to be sent? (I'll pay with pay pal)

Thanks

xvisceral - February 24, 2011, 8:31 am

Yes it works with Cybergate, you get it automatically, and yes it is a bit slow from EU. Marjinz says our friend will have our new server setup in EU in 24 hours, we will see.

DarkxStorm - February 24, 2011, 9:34 am

Quick two question:

I've noticed that it doesn't connect if I disconnect and connect again. I have to setup the connection again everytime I want to connect. How can I fix this?

Also, I'm trying to connect on another computer using Windows XP, but there is no "connect" later option. how can I set it up there? Thanks.

Ok this is going to be really noobie but i have to do it.

I have bought this stuff the vpn and blackshades RAT. I got them because i thought it may be time to move on from keylogging.

But i basically have no idea what I am doing. I have connected to the VPN but it never asked me what ports to use (which you said i should change the default ports?).

It says I am connected, and my ip is different, but then what? how do i set up my RAT on the VPN? Wouldn't i just be setting it on my own pc still? And how do I change the ports?

I am happy to announce that we now offer an EU server on the order form and another should be coming shortly aswell.

The IPN is not complete and will not process your order yet, but feel free to place an order and I will be able to manually fix it while I am writing the system. We now officially finally have an EU server!

No, the server is just offline: error 800.

It's not my firewall or anything, it's a server error.

But xvis tries to fix it already, so we'll just have to wait

Hello Im about to buy the Blackshades RAT along with this BS VPN but since Im from Europe and I read there are some problems at the moment with the EU Host I want to ask a couple of questions:

1) Will I be able to connected to the USA Host? or wont I be able to connect at all until the problem in europe is solved?

2) If I start now using the USA Host will I be able to switch in the future to the EU Host when it is online again? if so, is the change free and simple to do?

Sorry for the basic questions I make but Im a noob in this field, I probably should do fine with the USA Host for the little use I will give it but I appreciate any related info the Blackshades team can give me about this issue so I can start learning more about vpns.

Thanks.

The EU server is trashed, they offer worst customer support ever. And purposely put our server offline since 8th of March...I finally got it back yesterday, but they did not like that I "powered on without authorization", and back off until who knows when xvisceral - March 16, 2011, 10:28 am

USA has plenty and is working great

These are the only reason ports are not open:

If you are not showing open ports, the most likely reason is:

1. Your port needs to be activated to be opened
2. You need to turn windows firewall off/any firewall off
3. In Windows 7, you must set it as a "Home" connection. This means when a connection is first set up on Windows 7, it will ask you if it is a Home or Public network after you connect. If you chose public, ports will not be opened and you will need to redo it
4. Your ISP has truly blocked you from having this, in which case, full refund moodychris - March 16, 2011, 10:30 am okay,

1. Activated (it's set to listen)
2. I don't have a firewall (even windows one)
3. On vista
4. Do you know which isps block this? :< i was able to portforward a while ago normally, but now it doesn't work > this could be the problem possibly.

xvisceral - March 16, 2011, 10:41 am moodychris - can you tell me if you open windows firewall if you are able to turn it on and off? some guys had a problem where windows firewall was messed up so it was blockign all

I'm getting that error ^ I tried to completely uninstall it about a year ago, I havn't had any troubles with portforwarding until recently, thus i bought this.

Edit: I'm thinking i might just install xp/7, i used to portforward fine and not sure what's up now so i'm thinking there could be a problem there.

If you use ZoneAlarm, to allow blackshades, do this:

1. Open ZoneAlarm
2. Click on Firewall
3. Click on Zones
4. Click Add>>>
5. Click Host/Site
6. These settings:
Zone: Trusted
Host name: info.blackshades
Description: Your own choice
7. DO NOT CLICK LOOKUP!
8. Press OK.
9. Click Apply.
10. Connect and enjoy.

That should solve problems with ZoneAlarm Firewall.

Blackshades VPN Now delivered automatically!

You will not always be able to connect to Hackforums.net with this VPN - Omni blocked many of our IP addresses

Being anonymous online is very important. Many people live in countries where their ISP dictates what sites their customers can browse, which is ridiculous. Some sites also restrict access by IP address, such as Hulu and Pandora. Sites like these are only allowed to those who are browsing from

The United States. With our service, the websites will not only grant you access, they will think that you are from the United States! There are also many times where you are at school, work, or any other public place which has restrictions on browsing. Of course, they know this, so they also block the use of proxies. With us, you will not need a proxy. Even better, it is like you are connected to a proxy at all times, with minimal latency, except your connection is encrypted and secure and other people cannot browse your secure data. Many routers and ISPs also do not allow port forwarding, which some game servers and torrent clients need to work properly. Your ports will be automatically opened without the hassle. Your ISP, those public locations and websites will no longer be able to dictate your browsing -- and you will be able to browse freely, securely and anonymously.

Benefits of having Blackshades VPN:

- [?] Browse any site without restriction.
- [?] Browse securely -- nobody will be able to decrypt your browsing data.
- [?] Open your ports without the struggle - we open them for you automatically.
- [?] Browse country-restricted websites.

Here is what we promise:

- [?] 99.9% Uptime
- [?] Automated account delivery (receive instantly after paying!)
- [?] 100% open ports or your money back

- [?] No logging (we do not keep logs of what you do)
- [?] Secure, encrypted connection: Your ISP will not be able to interpret your data.
- [?] Fast Speeds and low latency. The server is in the USA on a 1gb/s port and costs us way too much money.
- [?] Your IP address will be hidden appear as one of ours

Pricing:

- [?] $5 per mont
- [?] $13.50 for 3 months ($1.50, or 10% off)
- [?] $50 for a year ($10, or 17% off)

Accepted payment methods:

- [?] Paypal/Moneybookers/Credit Card/Bank Account/etc

FAQ:

Q: Do I need to run any software to use this?

A: No, you can connect directly through connections.

Q: Which ports are open? Do I need to ask you to open a port?

A: All ports are open. No, you do not need to ask us -- they automatically are.

Q: Why does canyouseeme.org says my ports are closed?

A: For security, the port is closed until it is in use. Activate the port in your torrent client or RAT and then test and it will be opened.

Q: Can I connect from anywhere?

A: Yes, you can connect anywhere that supports VPN connection.

Q: So I can connect via Mac, Linux, and phone?

A: Yes!

Q: Is the account locked to my PC? Is there any sort of HWID system?

A: No!

Q: Is this compatible with xxx software?

A: Yes, it is. Your internet connection is tunneled through our connection, so you will always be connected no matter the software, unlike a proxy.

Q: Will this hide my IP address?

A: Yes, it will show one of our IP addresses.

Q: How many IP addresses do you have?

A: We currently have over 50 IP addresses on each server, and you will be assigned one at random. If you want to have a static one, we can do that for a price. We will not sell more accounts than the IP addresses we have. We will continuously buy IP addresses as we need them.

Q: Where is your server located?

A: Currently, we have a server in the USA and one in Luxembourg. One in The UK is coming soon!

Q: Can we torrent on the VPN?

A: Yes, of course.

Q: What type of connection is the VPN on?

A: Our USA is on a 1gb port, with 100tb bandwidth, while our Luxembourg is on a 100mbs port with unmetered bandwidth.

Q: Do I have a bandwidth limit?

A: No use as much as you like!

Q: What type of VPN connection do you use?

A: PPTP.

Q: Do you support openVPN?

A: No, we do not. We look to get that in the future once we upgrade after having many customers.

Q: Will you have more servers in other locations?

A: After this takes off, we will be buying servers in other locations.

Q: Do you allow fraud?

A: Under no circumstance.

Hey, I'd really really like to buy the VPN port forwarder! I've recently bought BS .NET (2 days ago) so is it possible to get the first month for $2.50 and then the next 3 months for $.12.50 as listed.

No you will no be connected 24/7. I state this as I am yet to have a solid connection for more than 10 min.

It can not seem to handle too many connections.

Personally I have received no support for this product.

I know for a fact it is not my end. I have gone through everything possible at my end.

If anyone can support me. That would be great. As it stands now. I will not be repurchasing this VPN. Support is non existent.

Please can someone from support contact me about this!

He asked me for my ref number, and I told him. Haven't heard from him again, and the convo was active. It was like 5-10 mins before his responses, then nothing. Just checked my email, still nothing.

Probably too early to be saying this, but I'm glad I only bought THIS item, and not anything else from him, right now. Still hoping for a refund if nothing comes up.

The issue is because of your slow upload speeds

TheGoogleChrome - April 23, 2011, 4:20 pm

Refer to this part of the E-mail sent with delivery:

READ THIS NEXT PART VERY CAREFULLY:

Please note that you are using this VPN with many users who also use Blackshades. We only have 50 IP addresses, meaning the following:

Imagine you use port 3080 and 3081 for Blackshades NET. You disconnect, and somebody else connects. They may use the default port 3080 and 3081 too and SEE YOUR BOTS because the IPs are assigned at random! Please do the following:

1. DONT use the default ports! ALL ports from 1-65535 are opened, use a random number!
2. UPDATE No-IP once you get off of the VPN!

Somebody did not follow that, and it appears you did not either. That means both you and "slayer" are vulnerable if you forget to update your no-ip after disconnecting. TheGoogleChrome, please submit a ticket on my website.

Would the new server and stuff being installed be the reason non of my ports are open?

xvisceral - May 11, 2011, 10:26 pm

No,

If you are not showing open ports, the most likely reason is:

1. Your port needs to be activated to be opened
2. You need to turn windows firewall off/any firewall off
3. In Windows 7, you must set it as a "Home" connection. This means when a connection is first set up on Windows 7, it will ask you if it is a Home or Public network after you connect. If you chose public, ports will not be opened and you will need to redo it Looks like a Neat project here. Maybe I will buy this in the near future :) Good Luck anyways.

[H]ell - May 14, 2011, 7:07 am

Why the fuck did I have to buy, just before the moment xvisceral chose to abandon the project?

IT has been 12 hours now. No one sleeps 12 hours straight. And with only 24 tickets open, and already a response to mine, I would've expected some more quality from a company like Blackshades.

xvisceral - May 14, 2011, 7:54 am

You're full of yourself, hell.

I will see why some people are getting no internet access. I just reconfigured some things, I can connect fine.

It does seem that I (strangely) haven't seen more than 7 online at one time. I am not sure why, Okay, I have got past one issue. It was limiting 7 online, but now I see 9 online, so I must assume that that is fixed.

If it's not, it's an error with our IP addresses not resolving properly to our server

[H]ell - May 14, 2011, 8:53 am

Still waiting, lol wtf :3

Just because they are in the US you think they must keep logs? You think servers are configured differently every country?

The only reason people advice offshore VPN's is so that those countries wont give any information to the USA.

Anyone else with this issue?

There are some with the same issue as you and there are some like me who CAN connect to the VPN but have no connection from that point on. It seems that most if not all of those who can't connect (get the wrong username/pass message) are those who very recently purchased. That tells me they are having trouble with the HWID/verification process for new users and/or they have lost some data in the server switchover. Those of us who CAN connect to the VPN can go nowhere from there, so we're not really better off than you ATM.

We got a BS update last night, which tells me SOME features are up and running from the new server.

This was posted on the BS Forum, if you haven't read it:

Sorry about the lack of responses May 15th, 2:08 PM

A few things to note real quick:

I am not home, but I will be home tonight and will look at everything.

If you have an order that did NOT process, submit a ticket to general/sales with a title ORDER NOT PROCESSED with all payment information. If you already have one open, please close it.

If you have a problem getting into a program, please post a ticket to general/sales saying CANNOT ACCESS (PROGRAM NAME). If you already have one open, please close it and submit a new.

If you have an issue with a feature on this website not working, please submit a ticket to Bug Reports saying SITE FEATURE NOT WORKING. If you already have one, please close it and submit a new.

Thank you for your patience.

-xvisceral

Which tells me he has a busy night in store for him LOL

Venemous - May 15, 2011, 5:48 pm

Since the server migration there have been some problems with new orders. We have also had a few problems with existing accounts but as Charon0831 as so kindly pointed out, xvisceral will be on later tonight and will be trying to fix these problems. Please just hang in there and be patient as we work this out.

I managed to get it working. I'm using the old DNS blackshades.info. I tried entering my password but it didn't work then I tried my old password before it got reset and I got it conencted. For some reason it reset my password to my original one. So if some of you are having a hard time connecting, try using your old password.

you have to have a way to access the VPN, Blackshades is not an ISP I bought the VPN and it works well, I only wish it's IP's weren't blocked on HF because then I'd use it all the time.

hive - June 12, 2011, 9:10 pm

Hello, I am considering signing up for this service.

However, I want to pay anonymously. No paypal, credit cards in my name, or other shit like that. Not that any illegal activities are planned, but if buying for anonymity purposes, it makes zero sense to pay for something in your own name.

So, how do I pay if I have cash? Can I mail in my payment in cash? Or what if I went to a store and bought a vanilla prepaid Mastercard, is there a way to pay with that?

Thanks for your help, I look forward to a response!

It was the payment company trying to verify if you are who you are.

Have been using this VPN for awhile and ran into a problem after months of use (turned out to be problem with my computer, nothing wrong on their part), and they helped me as best as they could. Comes with some of the best service I've seen.

If you are looking to do anything illegal such as carding or fraud, we don't want your business. We are also blocked on HF. Not much more I can add to that.

darkleet00 - June 16, 2011, 9:11 am

Too bad payproglobal is a bit buggy, I tried the past 3 times to pay with iDeal but everytime I select iDeal I get this message:

Quote:Unable to complete operation

We're sorry, Our system is currently experiencing temporary problems.
I only succeeded once to select iDeal, but then I didn't had a random reader with me (iDeal is payment method in holland for instant bank2bank transfer)

I also couldn't find a way to pay with moneybookers, so if you could tell me how I will buy a VPN from you :)

xvisceral - June 16, 2011, 10:10 am

we dont have moneybookers, sorry, but I think they do accept regular bank transfers

It don't see that it's Dos protected. Is it?

xvisceral - June 17, 2011, 8:27 am

No, we are not protected against network floods.

There is no download salman. It sent you an email, I would read it piyushjeswani - June 17, 2011, 11:17 am

Hey,

Can we access all the sites using this VPN? Like will I be able to access paypal.com?

Please let me know

Thanking you

lxix69 - June 18, 2011, 8:10 am

Every time I try to buy anything off the site the orders always get canceled and I end up receiving an email telling me you guys don't accept paypal or credit cards and for me to submit another order choosing the money wire method.

Lucid - June 18, 2011, 3:13 pm

Me and two friends can confirm it's down. Probably just needs to be restarted.

xvisceral - June 22, 2011, 11:56 am

Yes it's down, it will be for 24 hours because of my host I have an official time it should be back on bshades.com

Object - June 22, 2011, 1:01 pm

Can we choose the server location?

I'd prefer Luxembourg over the USA, since I assume it will be faster in Europe.

I connected to the vpn just fine you have to log in with the username and password that you put on the website when you paid.

I also have a question, a good friend of mine said that some ppl lie about not keeping logs is that possible and if so how can we be sure that logs are not being saved.

we get DCMA reports every now and then for torrents, but that is it (and we can only "catch" that person if they dont sign off their IP by the time the report is filed - and even then we just ask them to stop seeding)

Vouch for this, bought this a week or so ago and its never let me down since.

One question though, if I run a trusted java applet for a gaming website known as Runescape, of which I won't go into great depth as discussion is banned on HF, the applet shows my last logged in IP as my computer name which is "HP-PC". Is it possible for them to directly trace through to my original IP immediately?

If its just showing the PC name, then there are many PCs with that name I would say :S
