Thread: [\[GAURENTEED\] \$5/Month Autopilot](#)

Fatality - November 4, 2010, 6:38 pm

So obviously $5 is not a lot in the grand scheme of things but its $5 that you can count on to be going into your paypal every month for putting in no effort. This is completely autopilot and guarenteed. Check it out, it is my first guide.

link in guide is a hidden referral :(
i'll read the guide, though.

Even if you already have an account I would recommend signing up for a new account. Ok, now that you have signed up with that link, confirm your account.

Lol'd

only reason they say to make a new account is because they hide their ref link under "http://www.swagbucks.com/"

Fatality - November 5, 2010, 7:39 pm

You caught me lol. Well under my link or not, its a good way.

Of course I would prefer my link...

critenks29 - November 5, 2010, 8:22 pm

why 400 to 500 seconds?
to avoid getting detected?

niggerkiller243 - November 5, 2010, 9:07 pm

looks good, gonna give it a try. :]

Its not as much as getting detected as it is that you can early win swagbucks from searching a couple times an hour. You can put whatever time you want, but in my opinion I just seem like I gain more swagbucks when I put a higher interval.

P.S. Swagbucks can not detect this because you are just searching like you are supposed to.

How long does it take to get the money to the paypal one you've requested it?

talha240 - November 6, 2010, 10:59 pm

i have been searching on swagbucks for 3 days but my points are just stuck at 30,any idea why ?

Fatality - November 7, 2010, 9:26 am

Your welcome BR14N.

@nightelf Like I said in the guide put 400 and 500 for the time. It works perfectly.

@talha Same thing as nightelf. And also I would not leave it on literally all day. I have realized that I earn more swagbucks when you do it on and off throughout the day and take breaks. Then you earn more next time.

If you still need help PM me and we can use teamviewer.
