[NEW RELEASE]iBrowser V2.4.3 by eXero[NEW RELEASE]

--Information--

This is a browser I have been working on for a while. It is version 2.4.3. In all, it took me about a week, with a lot of help from Mia, and a few other people. There are many bugs, I know. No need to report them. It is pretty advanced for a browser. I am going to implement GeckoFX when I learn how, and an auto-update feature, along with many other features. I hope to have this browser become very stable. In the future I may have a website and everything set up, depending on how far I want to go with this browser. This version, possibly the next version will be released with Mia's new VOS, Riot. Please be looking for the next releases of iBrowser, and the release of Riot!!!

Downloading now, Looks pretty good.

eXero - November 5, 2010, 3:22 pm

It has a TON of bugs, but it is also pretty good. You get errors when viewing some advanced webpages. Hasn't been tested with youtube sadly... :P

Its ok ,its not the best but not the worst. If your making a new one you should put a abort button in it.

eXero - November 5, 2010, 3:30 pm

What would the abort button do?

FrenchcoreRadio - November 5, 2010, 3:30 pm

interesting, good luck with it pal!

Hmm. What makes this browser better than my current one? What makes me want to download this?

Well, I spent a lot of time, not that it matters to you. This is the second version. I chose not to release the first version it sucked so bad. You probably don't understand the extensive, advanced coding that I put into this. If you saw the coding, you would understand.

I'll vouch for this. As of what I've seen and used, it's a fairly nice browser.

Why did you make this? Whats the point when you have IE built in. Just ripping you like people do to me.

HabitualSmoker - November 5, 2010, 6:21 pm

GOod job man, keep it up, I wont hate on you :)

Get off your period, and get off my thread.

@Front - I don't know what my plans are for the GUI, but if I am going to do a GUI, I will want to see what you come up with.
