Code VeggieTales is an American series of English language children's computer animated films featuring anthropomorphic vegetables. Developed by Big Idea, the films convey moral themes based on Christianity, often compatible with Judaism, spiced with satirical references to pop culture and current events. However, more recent releases are not limited to biblical themes, but include fairy tales and pirate/Viking genre, and other self-written stories set in Egyptian, medieval, ancient, Western, Persian and other time periods outside a biblical time frame.[citation needed]

Used to watch it when I was little :D
