Thread: What free webhosting company should I use? the_lol - November 21, 2010, 4:03 am

Hello HF,

This is my third thread in this section today;D.

I was using SPAM.com, but my website goes offline, my FTP doesn't connect (I've done it before, it worked), connection is slow ect... What is a decent/good free webhost that I should use? I've checked the web hosting part on this forum as well, but I am not sure on what "company" to use.

tl;dr - I need a new free webhosting company.

Thank you very much.

I use <http://byethost.com/> . I like their hosting service a lot, my website has never went down. The only downside is that when you transfer a file to the FTP it takes 10 minutes to update sometimes, and is not instant. But other than that it's a great hosting service!

Dont really think there is such thing as a good free anything!

Dependin on your site it might be worth a small investment? Espicially if your trying to make $ out of it!
