for some reason when i try to run the client.exe it says windows cant find the files or i dont have permission , yes i have extracted it and tried running as admin.

-MystikMyndz - January 28, 2011, 9:22 pm

I seem to be having a few issues with this, this is the second tutorial I have attempted with the DarkComet RAT and I am having the exact same problem. Ive started from scratch and redone everything 3 times. Something is wrong here, I have followed the tutorial throughly and everything turned out great built my server and everything. I have a spare laptop I use for testing stuff on. It does NOT have ANY antivirus, I even turned off windows firewall, I even ran the program as an administrator. But on my hosting computer of the RAT the logs or nothing shows up. I have no users, but I know it was activated on the laptop because the installation error message I made for it popped up.

Any idea what the problem could be?

This Program Is Freaking Amazing

Unicrøn - January 29, 2011, 3:58 pm

I'm just starting to pick up on RATs and hacking in general, I currently operate on a Linksys connection at home and my universities wifi on campus. So port forwarding would be an issue, so I'm glad to see I don't need to use that for this method.

This is a grand TuT for a newcomer :)

I'm eager to get more proficient so I can have some fun/do some revenge hacking.

Wolves - January 29, 2011, 3:58 pm

Pretty good tutorial, I just had to look more into setting up a FTP (which went pretty well) so just looking to test and encrypt to see how well it goes.

Ok, sorry i'm French :s

During the connexion test, DC send me : my.no-ip.biz was not successfully connected to port 81 (for example).

I don't understand :s

When I go to the site <http://www.canyouseeme.org/> and I do the test to my port, he replied:
Your ISP is Not blocking port 81 (for example)

The problem is my router?

Anubis - February 2, 2011, 6:04 am

Download proXPN and connect to it.

It's VPN, so when you connect you will get a new IP address.

Than go to NO-IP and make a new host using the PROXPN IP address and try again.

NOTE: your PROXPN must be connected when using your RAT

Depends what features you have enabled :)

Some features are only supported by x64 windows and some only by x86 :S

So see if anything you've enabled supports only 64 bit windows ?

Any ideas , please , im stuck on it ? ?

You need to open that port in your router setting.

You can use any which is opened and not in use already,

I agree. This guide was incredibly helpful. I've run into a small issue that I'm not sure how to resolve, however (I R NOOB).

In the server editor, under network settings, my no-ip account does not seem to work. It was working fine just yesterday, but then my comp restarted for a windows update. Every time I test it now, I get that the Localhost and LAN successfully connect to my port (1604), but my no-ip does not connect.

Could anyone possibly teach me how to fix this problem

*Problem fixed.
