Thread: !Secret Santa! in Anime Adventures!

iProfit - December 5, 2010, 6:32 pm

Introduction

So I had an idea of creating a Secret Santa party here in Anime Adventures if enough people were interested. It seems that everyone here in this sub-forum seems to get along pretty well, this seemed like a great idea to get people closer.

FAQs

Q: How does it work?

A: So the deal is you sign up to be on the list, and you will be assigned a person to which you will be a Secret Santa.

Q: How will presents be sent/received?

A: When users signup they will need to include their names, and addresses so that the presents can be sent.

Q: ZOMG. MY priv info will be leaked wont it?

A: Participants must agree to a confidentiality agreement to participate. All information will be kept confidential.

Q: What kind of gift will i receive?

A: Depends on what your Secret Santa sends you.

Q: How will I know my secret santa sent a gift?

A: Participants will need to supply a tracking number along with the package they have sent

Q: Is there a spending cap?

A: I'm not inclined to say, but pick presents that are appropriate for your economic standard. Something at LEAST $10 or more should be sufficient!

Rules:

1. All presents must be anime related.
2. Participants are not to release any information about their recipient.
3. Do not submit fraudulent addresses.
4. Included in the gift, the participant will reveal his identity.
5. Do not send bad gifts; I felt as though there were a lack of words to better describe this rule, please do NOT send shitty presents such as anthrax or plague, you sick fucks.
6. All applicants must be approved to participate.
7. Have fun!
8. Participants must be in US (rule established 12/11/10)

Confidentiality Agreement

By agreeing to participate you are agreeing to all the criteria and rules as stated above. All participants must agree to keep all personal information pertaining to the other party confidential. If said agreement is violated, legal action will be taken.

If you are interested please post here and send me a PM with the following information:

I would but I am going through alot of economic trouble at the time being..

I can't afford to buy anyone presents. Not even family...

I am making most of my gifts for them =/

All depends on the sender. They have the option of doing so (ordering stuff for a person online) or they could ship stuff themselves.

I'm including a deadline. ALL participants must be registered before December 19. I'm planning for gifts to arrive sometime before during or after xmas depending on where the recipient is located.

Indeed. I need to know if I should go out and buy something. All of this waiting is interfering with my MAN activities like chopping wood and bending metal into shapes.
