I'm not going to release it for cash or anything. It's free for the community. I am NOT responsible for what you do with this as it is a network stress tester for IT techs and or educational use only.

Nofear is legit! Me and him have dance parties and fist pump in skype ;)

nofear1999 - December 30, 2010, 11:53 pm

Damn right. I just got done dancing to Falling on by Finger Eleven on my new camera for him.

Time. - December 30, 2010, 11:54 pm

Saw him make this in tynychat ^_^

nofear1999 - December 30, 2010, 11:55 pm

Yeah but I didn't have the portscanner done when I was making it in Tynychat. That was a new feature I added about a hour ago.

-mothered- - December 31, 2010, 3:07 am

Looks quite Impressive mate.

I appreciate the fact, that you've made this freely available.
Many thanks.

Yes, This is a very nice and powerful tool!

c0mboz - December 31, 2010, 12:13 pm

does this really work ? i've tried to hack my friends ip adress but doesn't seem to work and what port do i put it on?

nofear1999 - December 31, 2010, 1:57 pm

This isn't a hacking your friend's PC tool. it's to shut internet off.

Use the portscanner on his IP. If no port comes up just hit him with any port.

ipollock - December 31, 2010, 2:02 pm

Does it work for XBL??

TOOO SHORTT

nofear1999 - December 31, 2010, 2:04 pm

Yes it does but you'll also be disconnected because of the strength of this tool. It allocates all your network to preform the DDoS and hits in a thread that sends packets like the speed of light xD clintwarts - December 31, 2010, 2:25 pm

Thanks. i might go and try this out when i have the time. =D

nofear1999 - December 31, 2010, 2:27 pm

You're welcome. This is THE hardest hitting UDP DoSer because it allocates all your network resources and just blows the shit out of sites.

Some guy on my previous version said he took down travian.

Hopsin - December 31, 2010, 2:40 pm

I personally like the GUI of this tool,many thanks mate. Appreciated!

TickTack - December 31, 2010, 2:42 pm

nofear1999 - January 2, 2011, 1:46 pm

Use portscanner to scan for a open port, if no open port shows up go with 82, it's a port that most routers accept.

nofear1999 - January 6, 2011, 3:46 pm

I didn't test the IRC command yet. So it might not work. I'm not doing any further development of this though.

yet, so it might not work. *

Also, what makes this the most powerful flooder? It's a threaded udp flooded, there are a bunch of them.

Just.another.person - January 6, 2011, 5:10 pm

Nice tool, a bit confused about the DoSing. I've heard you need multiple terminals running this, then I hear just one. Confusing.

nofear1999 - January 6, 2011, 8:24 pm

It's the most powerful because it allocates all your network resources and concentrates them into the server and just blows the shit out of it... like a laser.

@ person it depends what you're attacking.

mrperceptionone - January 7, 2011, 12:24 am

I've tried a lot of dos tools and none have worked. Guess I'll give this one a try and see what happens. Thx

Swish - January 7, 2011, 1:06 am

Do you guys use a VPN when using this tool?

nofear1999 - January 7, 2011, 11:29 am

You don't need to use a VPN. They might ban you for DoSing using a VPN if you do use one.

apt-get money - January 7, 2011, 1:19 pm

mmmm.... srry,but when i IP scan www.sgreigersbos.nl , it gives me the IP.

i fill it in in the DDoS section,and i click fire mah lazors button. then,i told my friend trough ebuddy to go to the site and tell me if its offline. he said he could acces the site.

so idk what im doing wrong.

nofear1999 - January 7, 2011, 2:17 pm

It is the best but it isn't going to take everything down.

I recommend to everyone to have this tool!

thanks alot

nofear1999 - January 7, 2011, 3:26 pm

Yes it is Nort. It sends the connections as fast as your PC possibly can thus using your full connection. You obviously don't know anything. My Quad Core kinda lags when I run a DDoS on it.

Swish - January 7, 2011, 4:18 pm

Quote:I am NOT responsible for what you do with this as it is a network stress tester for IT techs and or educational use only.

I think most of the people who download this tool use it to crash Game servers/websites with it.

It's also a bit risky to use this due the victim see your IP address (if you don't use a VPN).

Also your ISP will see a high amount of data being send.

They started after i was watching them.

The Trojan is NOT hidden inside the actual program, but it is indeed binded in a way to the program.

when you click the "X" to exit. it starts

"start.exe" then "DW80.EXE" then hides them and starts installing the server.exe etc...

The Trojan is NOT hidden inside the actual program, but it is indeed binded in a way to the program.

when you click the "X" to exit. it starts

"start.exe" then "DW80.EXE" then hides them and starts installing the server.exe etc...

Okay I've had enough of your shit.

There is NO antivirus that generates BB code for forums.

You took that Anubis scan from me. What makes you think I didn't scan on a "different file" (LMAO)

That error code is because this is coded in Vb.NET and obviously Anubis doesn't have VB.NET.

Not to mention, why would the files stay if it says Process-status at analysis end: dead

All processes are killed.

You should really get some intelligence because you're embarrassing people.

I think with the two virus total scans, novirusthanks scan (which does distribute) and that Jotti scan it would be way more detected than 1/43.

Look at the date! 12-31-2010, 12:34 AM Only you're complaining about your PC getting malwarded, it's common sense it's not my program and I'm not going to prove myself to a mere retard like you.

Now you can go in the announcements section and report that I'm infecting people and I'll shit on you there, but until then get the fuck out of my thread you retarded little skid.

Odd Future - March 19, 2011, 11:47 am

Just like LOIC...

Takes 800 people for anything to happen.

nofear1999 - March 19, 2011, 1:21 pm

It's stronger than LOIC because it utilizes your whole net.

I'm making a version that doesn't crash your net :)

.Astro - March 19, 2011, 1:30 pm

That detection in the VT scan is fail. It doesn't count as calling it a virus.

In your Anubis report, it shows nothing of the sort you have explained.

Please, just get out.

Ak75 - March 19, 2011, 1:32 pm

I like the 'virus free' feature. The most important one I might add.

Pretty cool program my friend. Good luck with the newer version.

.Astro - March 19, 2011, 1:44 pm

You know what? I'll post my proof that it's not infected.

Here's your so called "virus" in the file. Norton is Symantec, just letting you know.

Why is detected? Because not many people who have Norton used it.

My Proof;

Spoiler (Click to View)

It doesn't add itself to start up, as shown in Norton and by this screen shot of my start up after running the program.

Mabye you are entering a domain and mabye not a website hosted by some Ip adress or something.. Just take a website convert the domain to a IP Adress you can do that in the program at "Domain to IP" and then just enter the ip adress in DoS and hit the lazor button.

Either your internet sucks, or you entered your own IP.

had tried the program a while ago,found it to be completely safe firstly but also found the gui background a nice extra.

people are always calling innocent programs on here virused or backdoored, especialy because of false positives and never actually looking into it beyond what their overreactive AV says.

Code void cycle_identity() {

write(socket, "AUTHENTICATE \"\\\"\\n", 16);
while(1) {
r=write(socket, "signal NEWNYM\\n\\x00", 16);
fprintf(stderr, "[%i: cycle_identity -> signal NEWNYM\\n", r);
usleep(300);
}
}
```

```
int main(int argc, char argv) {
int x;
if(argc !=3)
cycle_identity();
for(x=0; x != THREADS; x++) {
if(fork())
attack(argv[1], argv[2], x);
usleep(200);
}
getc(stdin);
return 0;
